Ohio Assembly Lays Plans for Blitz Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature has its work cut out for it—all laid out, according to plan, as it met Monday in an unusual session.

The legislature is meeting to make the first moves in distribution of $250 million which will be realized from sale of bonds for higher education and other facilities authorized by the voters last month.

Lawmakers also are scheduled to ask the voters to approve a $500-million bond issue next May for a speedup in highway construction.

Venezuela Poll Clobbers Reds

Anti-Castro Vote Is Overwhelming

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Raul Leoni, soft-spoken former labor lawyer pledged to carry on President Romulo Betancourt's opposition to Fidel Castro, won a smashing victory today in Venezuela's presidential election.

Leoni, Betancourt's candidate, led his nearest rival in the seven-man race by more than 200,000 votes, according to unofficial tabulations based on 70 per cent of the vote.

Defying threats, bullets and bombs from Communist terrorists, 95 per cent of Venezuela's eligible voters balloted Sunday.

Violence subsided in Caracas Monday. There was no sign of the outlawed pro-Castro Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), whose campaign of terror had resulted in an almost daily loss of life for months.

In second place in the presidential race was Rafael Caldera, a Social Christian member of Betancourt's government coalition. Unofficial returns today showed: Leoni, 692,206; Caldera, 470,174.

Exhausted from the strenuous campaign, Leoni went to bed in the early evening, confident that he would govern the oil-rich nation for the next five years.

Venezuela's constitution prevented Betancourt from succeeding himself. He will turn over the presidency in March.

Leoni, 55, won a reputation for honesty and achieved some popularity among workers as labor minister in Betancourt's 1946-47 provisional government.

Boys Use Tokens, Nerve for Flight

BOSTON (AP)—Two 7-year-old boys used two subway tokens and a lot of nerve to get a round trip flight to New York.

Back in Boston, Billy Alther and Steve Murray told authorities they rode the subway from their homes to Logan Airport Monday night, then nonchalantly strolled with other passengers aboard an Eastern Air Lines plane.

The shuttle plane was airborne before a stewardess selling tickets came to the boys and discovered they were alone and broke.

New York police put the boys on the first Eastern flight back to Boston.

U.S. Plans Pacific Syncom

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States intends to take another big step next spring toward achieving a worldwide space communications system.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today plans for putting a communication satellite in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above intersection of the International Dateline and the equator in mid-Pacific.

From there, the Syncom III satellite would be able to receive, store and transmit communications signals between wide stretches of North America and Asia.

The space agency said the satellite will be launched sometime from April through June.

Syncom I was launched last Feb. 14, but radio contact with it was lost. Syncom II was placed in circular orbit 22,300 miles above the earth last July 26.

It rotates at the same speed as the earth, but it is not in an equatorial orbit. It moves north and south of the equator in a figure-eight pattern.

Syncom III will be a true stationary satellite because it will be in a circular orbit 22,300 miles above the earth, synchronous in speed with the earth's rotation rate, and in an equatorial plane.

The Delta rocket used for the first two Syncom satellites lacked the energy to put them in stationary orbits.

A newly developed and more powerful Delta vehicle will be used for Syncom III.

5 Railroad Unions Merge To Fight Federal Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five rail unions banded together today for a legal attempt to upset a federal arbitration ruling and the emergency law Congress passed to avert a nationwide strike.

The unions said that, under the arbitration decision to eliminate thousands of jobs, "the railroad corporations would make a handsome profit at the expense of their employees' freedom."

In a joint statement, the chiefs of the five train operating unions said a suit challenging last Tuesday's arbitration ruling will be filed in federal court here Friday.

They also authorized their attorneys to file another suit attacking the constitutionality of last August's emergency law under which the arbitration ruling was made.

Friday is the deadline under the law for challenging the arbitration ruling. There is no deadline for filing the unions' court challenge of the law, and no date was set.

The planned legal action added a few more knots to the snarled, four-year-old work stoppage that has so far defied settlement efforts under the Railway Labor Act, the Labor Department, a special presidential emergency board and Congress.

Nearly 200 railroads are involved.

The unions refuse to accept last week's ruling of the arbitration board to eliminate slowly 90 per cent of some 32,000 firemen's jobs, and to give the National Mediation Board power.

JIM PIERCE, county trustee officer, expects his job will be a little easier from now until the first of the year. . . . Pierce claims that the "boys and girls are afraid Santa Claus won't bring them anything and attendance is always good at this time of year."

Hipskind said contributions coming in for the widow and family of Oswald are being turned over to Secret Service personnel. He could give no estimate of how much Oswald's family has received.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless President Johnson decides to use it, the bubble-top limousine in which President Kennedy was assassinated probably will be retired to a museum.

The vehicle was flown back to Washington after experts carefully examined it for bullet fragments or other evidence in connection with the fatal shooting of Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22.

The 30-month-old limousine is in perfect condition except for a small, unexplained hole in the windshield which may have been caused by a bullet fragment.

If Johnson decides against using the auto, it would likely be returned to the Ford Motor Co. The specially designed Navy blue Lincoln Continental is leased by the government from Ford for $500 a year.

'Elephant Boy' Dies
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Sabu Dastagir, 39, the movies' elephant boy, died Monday of a heart attack. The Indian-born actor began his movie career in 1937.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An exhaustive FBI report nearly ready for the White House will indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone and unaided assassin of President Kennedy, government sources said today.

The report will go to President Johnson this week, it was predicted, and Johnson will forward it promptly to the seven-member investigating commission he named Friday.

Members of the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, awaited a call from Warren to hold their first meeting, and organize the machinery for an inquiry which apparently has no precedent in American history.

Whether the FBI report would be made public before the Warren commission begins its study apparently was undecided.

Various government sources said the FBI report, incorporating the findings of the Secret Service and at least a half-dozen other federal agencies, would indicate that:

—Oswald, without accomplices, fired three shots at Kennedy Nov. 22 from a self-prepared hideaway at a sixth-floor window of the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas as the presidential motorcade passed.

—The first and third shots struck the President. Either could have killed him.

—The second shot missed Kennedy but struck and seriously wounded Texas Gov. John Connally.

—About 5½ seconds elapsed between the first shot and the last. Despite questions raised by some rifle experts, federal agents consider Oswald's bolt-action rifle could have been aimed and fired that rapidly.

—It has been established that all three shots came from the same direction, behind and slightly to the right of the President's car. This gave the assassin a target moving approximately in the direction of his line of fire, an easier shot than a target moving across it.

—Ballistics studies reportedly substantiate that the same weapon fired all three shots.

—Evidence is lacking of any personal acquaintance between Oswald and Jack Ruby, the Dallas nightclub owner who broke through a crowd of spectators and killed the prisoner two days later, as Oswald was about to be transferred from police headquarters in the Dallas City Hall to the county jail.

Moon Flight Bid Renewed

America Awaits Russian Decision

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet delegates to the United Nations awaited instructions from the Kremlin today before replying to a renewed U.S. offer to attempt a joint moon flight.

President Kennedy's dramatic invitation to the Russians before the U.N. General Assembly Sept. 20 was revived Monday by the chief U.S. delegate, Adlai E. Stevenson. He told the assembly's main political committee he was speaking for President Johnson.

Stevenson suggested the two nations cooperate in preliminary engineering and scientific endeavors related to the massive undertaking, even if they cannot reach an over-all agreement.

There was no immediate reaction from the Russian delegation, but this was not considered significant. Soviet representatives abroad almost never respond to unexpected Western overtures until they get instructions from the Kremlin.

When the joint moon project was first proposed to the Soviets, their response was lukewarm. A month ago Premier Khrushchev said he wasn't against a joint expedition, but he indicated it would have to await further easing of international tensions.

Most Western diplomats at the U.N. feel there must be a great improvement in confidence and trust between the two powers before such a joint venture is feasible.

More snow and cold chilled and dampened most Northern areas of the nation today from the Rockies into the Northeast. Lowest temperatures of the season were reported in some regions.

A light snow belt extended across broad sections from the upper Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England and southward into West Virginia. Temperatures dropped steadily throughout the snow belt and driving conditions in many areas were hazardous.

—Evidence is lacking of any personal acquaintance between Oswald and Jack Ruby, the Dallas nightclub owner who broke through a crowd of spectators and killed the prisoner two days later, as Oswald was about to be transferred from police headquarters in the Dallas City Hall to the county jail.

The FBI report will be the basic raw material for the Warren commission, but President

Johnson instructed it to evaluate "all available information" and empowered it to "conduct any further investigation it deems desirable."

This could include information in the hands of Texas authorities. The state's attorney general, Waggoner Carr, has offered full cooperation with the Warren probe.

In Dallas, Carr said Monday the state inquiry will be delayed until the FBI reports, and in any case will not start before next week.

Official sources indicate the FBI still is working on its report. The basic document is ready, but agents Monday still were tracking down belated tips, reports and rumors to make sure that no leads were overlooked.

The report has been described as a narrative in minute detail. It was considered likely that some portions dealing with Jack Ruby might be withheld for the present, since he is facing trial for Oswald's shooting.

DALLAS (AP)—It seems almost certain that the murder trial of Jack Ruby, who killed the man accused of assassinating President Kennedy, won't be held until well into next year.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, who will prosecute Ruby on the state charge, and defense lawyer Tom Howard said Monday they can't finish preparing their cases by next week.

Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown has set the trial tentatively for Dec. 9. Presumably he will order a postponement on formal request from either side.

One reason for delay, Howard said, will be a defense move for a pre-trial sanity hearing for Ruby, 52, a Dallas night club operator. He estimated it would take two months to get ready for this alone.

As thousands of television viewers watched, Ruby shot and killed accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald as police started to take Oswald from the City Hall to county jail Nov. 24.

In neighboring Fort Worth, Police Sgt. Jim Stout estimated 10,000 people have walked or driven past the grave of Oswald in Rose Hill Cemetery. Stout is part of a special detail on guard around the clock. Spectators are permitted no closer than a roadway 30 feet from the grave.

Greek Crown Prince To Wed Dane Princess

LONDON (AP)—A source close to the Greek throne says Crown Prince Constantine will marry Princess Anna-Marie of Denmark in January 1965.

"I don't think the actual date has been decided upon, but it should be sometime between the first part and the middle of January," the informant said. The wedding will take place in Athens.

The engagement of the Prince, 23, and the Princess, 17, was announced last January.

Early Morning Drinking Hit

Young 'Incensed' By Dallas Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen Young declared today that if Secret Service agents were drinking in the early morning hours of the day President Kennedy was assassinated, they were in neglect of duty and should be fired.

"No one claims they were intoxicated," said the Ohio Democrat. But, he added, "They knew the President was going into Dallas. They knew the vicious cycle of occurrences in Dallas. . . . They should have got in at a reasonable hour so they could react in a split second."

Young had disclosed in an interview Monday that he had been reliably informed that some members of the Secret Service detail assigned to guard Kennedy "were in a Fort Worth nitery drinking until 2:30 a.m." on the morning Kennedy was killed.

Neither the Secret Service nor the White House had any comment on Young's remarks or other published reports of the alleged incident.

"I feel very incensed over this situation," said Young. "Guarding the president is a 24-hour job. These men knew they had an assignment that required them to be alert mentally and capable physically."

Various reports had the agents visiting the Fort Worth Press Club, and Young indicated that was what he had been told, too.

Cal Sutton, a Fort Worth newspaperman and president of the club, said in a statement Monday that 10 or 12 men who may have been Secret Service agents visited the club in the early morning hours of Nov. 22.

This year's program is surprisingly realistic.

Unusually, costumed mannequins added to the displays. However, Sunday a number of live models were on hand as one visitor found out.

As one woman approached a scene she reached out and pinched a "mannequin" dressed in a Polish costume. The surprised "mannequin" was Joe Czerwinski, who spun around to see his horrified assailant.

"My gosh, I thought you were a dummy," the woman gasped.

Ohio Assembly Lays Plans for Blitz Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislature has its work cut out for it—all laid out, according to plan, as it met Monday in an unusual session.

The legislature is meeting to make the first moves in distribution of $250 million which will be realized from sale of bonds for higher education and other facilities authorized by the voters last month.

Lawmakers also are scheduled to ask the voters to approve a $500-million bond issue next May for a speedup in highway construction.

After adoption of a series of resolutions in connection with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the legislative leadership laid down the entire program it hopes to accomplish this week in a blitz session.

The session was set up last July when the legislature ended its regular session. This early-winter meeting was scheduled to take up only the legislation needed to permit the state to issue the first series of bonds which voters approved Nov. 5.

The first chink in that solid legislative dike appeared when firm administration support continued for a measure to commit Ohio to participation in the federal program of Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU).

Three Republicans — Reps. James D. Hapner, R-Highland, Robert C. Carpenter, R-Seneca, and Robert E. Netzel, R-Miami—tried to block introduction of ADCU, but failed.

In two previous sessions, legislation was offered to permit Ohio to join 17 other states in participating in the program designed to ease the poor relief burden of metropolitan areas, but it has gone nowhere.

No one appears willing to hazard a guess as to the amount Ohio has forfeited as a result of its refusal to participate in ADCU.

Minority Democrats apparently are resigned to the Republican program unless they feel there is hanky-panky in connection with the ADCU proposal.

Democratic leaders say there is no plan to interfere with the GOP legislative program except, perhaps, on ADCU.

"We'll see what happens," said Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas. He did not elaborate.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, said after a survey of the first day's work that the legislature appears to have bitten off a large

Men Found Best Fighters Against Fat

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The circus fat lady can reduce, but she'll have a lifelong job holding the weight loss, says a New York physician.

He adds that men seem more successful in reducing.

Dr. S. K. Fineberg of Harlem Hospital's metabolism service told the American Medical Association today of 12 patients who weighed at least twice what they should.

The heaviest weighed 640 pounds at the start of treatment. In nine weeks he lost 97 pounds, almost 11 pounds a week. But he failed to continue treatment.

Two patients, a woman scaling 406 pounds to start and a man weighing 363, each lost 130 pounds in 51 and 27 weeks, respectively, Fineberg said.

His treatment consists of two phases. The first is intensive with a diet of 900 calories a day, drugs to curb appetite, and drugs to get rid of excess water. The treatment lasts two to 12 months.

Control is modified in the second phase, which Fineberg says should continue for life. It includes dieting, drugs, education about eating and psychotherapy.

A light snow belt extended across broad sections from the upper Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England and southward into West Virginia. Temperatures dropped steadily throughout the snow belt and driving conditions in many areas were hazardous.

FBI's Oswald Report Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP)—An exhaustive FBI report nearly ready for the White House will indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone and unaided assassin of President Kennedy, government sources said today.

The report will go to President Johnson this week, it was predicted, and Johnson will forward it promptly to the seven-member investigating commission he named Friday.

Members of the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, awaited a call from Warren to hold their first meeting, and organize the machinery for an inquiry which apparently has no precedent in American history.

Whether the FBI report would be made public before the Warren commission begins its study apparently was undecided.

Various government sources said the FBI report, incorporating the findings of the Secret Service and at least a half-dozen other federal agencies, would indicate that:

—Oswald, without accomplices, fired three shots at Kennedy Nov. 22 from a self-prepared hideaway at a sixth-floor window of the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas as the presidential motorcade passed.

—The first and third shots struck the President. Either could have killed him.

—The second shot missed Kennedy but struck and seriously wounded Texas Gov. John Connally.

—About 5½ seconds elapsed between the first shot and the last. Despite questions raised by some rifle experts, federal agents consider Oswald's bolt-action rifle could have been aimed and fired that rapidly.

—It has been established that all three shots came from the same direction, behind and slightly to the right of the President's car. This gave the assassin a target moving approximately in the direction of his line of fire, an easier shot than a target moving across it.

—Ballistics studies reportedly substantiate that the same weapon fired all three shots.

—Evidence is lacking of any personal acquaintance between Oswald and Jack Ruby, the Dallas nightclub owner who broke through a crowd of spectators and killed the prisoner two days later, as Oswald was about to be transferred from police headquarters in the Dallas City Hall to the county jail.

The FBI report will be the basic raw material for the Warren commission, but President

Navy Conquers Seagull Problem

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif. (AP)—The United States Navy announced today that the enemy has been met and routed.

Thousands of seagulls had been spending their days on the landing strips of this naval air station, creating a hazard for pilots.

Two weeks ago a Navy sound truck began broadcasting the recorded call of a seagull in distress along the strips each morning.

"There are so few of them now they aren't much of a problem," a spokesman said.

Spending Cut Plan Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders voiced approval today of President Johnson's drive to cut government spending. But there was some skepticism about what the results will be.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois applauded Johnson's attempts to get defense contractors and government departments to reduce costs.

But Dirksen said that if Johnson is aiming at generating a climate favorable to Senate passage of the $11-billion tax reduc-

Johnson instructed it to evaluate "all available information" and empowered it to "conduct any further investigation it deems desirable."

This could include information in the hands of Texas authorities. The state's attorney general, Waggoner Carr, has offered full cooperation with the Warren probe.

In Dallas, Carr said Monday the state inquiry will be delayed until the FBI reports, and in any case will not start before next week.

Official sources indicate the FBI still is working on its report. The basic document is ready, but agents Monday still were tracking down belated tips, reports and rumors to make sure that no leads were overlooked.

The report has been described as a narrative in minute detail. It was considered likely that some portions dealing with Jack Ruby might be withheld for the present, since he is facing trial for Oswald's shooting.

Long Delay Hinted for Ruby Trial

DALLAS (AP)—It seems almost certain that the murder trial of Jack Ruby, who killed the man accused of assassinating President Kennedy, won't be held until well into next year.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, who will prosecute Ruby on the state charge, and defense lawyer Tom Howard said Monday they can't finish preparing their cases by next week.

Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown has set the trial tentatively for Dec. 9. Presumably he will order a postponement on formal request from either side.

One reason for delay, Howard said, will be a defense move for a pre-trial sanity hearing for Ruby, 52, a Dallas night club operator. He estimated it would take two months to get ready for this alone.

As thousands of television viewers watched, Ruby shot and killed accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald as police started to take Oswald from the City Hall to county jail Nov. 24.

In neighboring Fort Worth, Police Sgt. Jim Stout estimated 10,000 people have walked or driven past the grave of Oswald in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Stout is part of a special detail on guard around the clock. Spectators are permitted no closer than a roadway 30 feet from the grave.

Greek Crown Prince To Wed Dane Princess

LONDON (AP) — A source close to the Greek throne says Crown Prince Constantine will marry Princess Anna-Marie of Denmark in January 1965.

"I don't think the actual date has been decided upon, but it should be sometime between the first part and the middle of January," the informant said. The wedding will take place in Athens.

The engagement of the Prince, 23, and the Princess, 17, was announced last January.

Early Morning Drinking Hit

Young 'Incensed' By Dallas Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen Young declared today that if Secret Service agents were drinking in the early morning hours of the day President Kennedy was assassinated they were in neglect of duty and should be fired.

"No one claims they were intoxicated," said the Ohio Democrat. But, he added, "I knew the President was going into Dallas. They knew the vicious cycle of occurrences in Dallas. . . . They should have got in at a reasonable hour so they could react in a split second."

Young had disclosed in an interview Monday that he had been reliably informed that some members of the Secret Service detail assigned to guard Kennedy "were in a Fort Worth nitery drinking until 2:30 a.m." on the morning Kennedy was killed.

Neither the Secret Service nor the White House had any comment on Young's remarks or other published reports of the alleged incident.

"I feel very incensed over this situation," said Young. "Guarding the president is a 24-hour job. These men knew they had an assignment that required them to be alert mentally and capable physically."

Various reports had the agents visiting the Fort Worth Press Club, and Young indicated that was what he had been told, too. Cal Sutton, a Fort Worth newspaperman and president of the club, said in a statement Monday that 10 or 12 men who may have been Secret Service agents visited the club in the early morning hours of Nov. 22. Lady Pinches Live 'Dummy'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Toledo Zoo, for the seventh year, is the scene of "Christin around the World" — project where visitors may see how Christmas is observed in other nations.

This year's program is surprisingly realistic.

Unusually, costumed mannequins add to the displays. However, Sunday a number of live models were on hand as one visitor found out.

As one woman approached a scene she reached out and pinched a "mannequin" dressed in a Polish costume. The surprised "mannequin" was Joe Czerwinski, who spun around to see his horrified assailant.

"My gosh, I thought you were a dummy," the woman gasped.

Venezuela Poll Clobbers Reds

Anti-Castro Vote Is Overwhelming

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Raul Leoni, soft-spoken former labor lawyer pledged to carry on President Romulo Betancourt's opposition to Fidel Castro, won a smashing victory today in Venezuela's presidential election.

Leoni, Betancourt's candidate, led his nearest rival in the seven-man race by more than 200,000 votes, according to unofficial tabulations based on 70 per cent of the vote.

Defying threats, bullets and bombs from Communist terrorists, 95 per cent of Venezuela's eligible voters balloted Sunday.

Violence subsided in Caracas Monday. There was no sign of the outlawed pro-Castro Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), whose campaign of terror had resulted in an almost daily loss of life for months.

In second place in the presidential race was Rafael Caldera, a Social Christian member of Betancourt's government coalition. Unofficial returns today showed: Leoni, 692,206; Caldera, 470,174.

Exhausted from the strenuous campaign, Leoni went to bed in the early evening, confident that he would govern the oil-rich nation for the next five years.

Venezuela's constitution prevented Betancourt from succeeding himself. He will turn over the presidency in March.

Leoni, 55, won a reputation for honesty and achieved some popularity among workers as labor minister in Betancourt's 1946-47 provisional government.

Boys Use Tokens, Nerve for Flight

BOSTON (AP) — Two 7-year-old boys used two subway tokens and a lot of nerve to get a round trip flight to New York.

Back in Boston, Billy Alther and Steve Murray told authorities they rode the subway from their homes to Logan Airport Monday night, then nonchalantly strolled with other passengers aboard an Eastern Air Lines plane.

The shuttle plane was airborne before a stewardess selling tickets came to the boys and discovered they were alone and broke.

New York police put the boys on the first Eastern flight back to Boston.

U.S. Plans Pacific Syncom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States intends to take another big step next spring toward achieving a worldwide space communications system.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today plans for putting a communication satellite in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above intersection of the International Dateline and the equator in mid-Pacific.

From there, the Syncom III satellite would be able to receive, store and transmit communications signals between wide stretches of North America and Asia.

The space agency said the satellite will be launched sometime from April through June.

Syncom I was launched last Feb. 14, but radio contact with it was lost. Syncom II was placed in circular orbit 22,300 miles above the earth last July 26.

It rotates at the same speed as the earth, but it is not in an equatorial orbit. It moves north and south of the equator in a figure-eight pattern.

Syncom III will be a true stationary satellite because it will be in a circular orbit 22,300 miles above the earth, synchronized in speed with the earth's rotation rate, and in an equatorial plane.

The Delta rocket used for the first two Syncom satellites lacked the energy to put them in stationary orbits.

A newly developed and more powerful Delta vehicle will be used for Syncom III

Eulogies Heard for Slain Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers, as the first order of business in the reconvened session of the General Assembly Monday, expressed their sorrow over the death of and assured their united support of President Johnson.

The legislature was meeting to allocate money from a $250-million bond issue approved by voters last month.

The Senate adopted unanimously two resolutions. In one they pledged the unanimous support of all Ohioans for President Johnson. The other sent condolences to the slain president's widow, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

The resolutions, which had the bipartisan support of Republican Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem and Minority Leader Frank W. King, were sent to the House for concurrence.

The late president was eulogized by House Speaker Roger Cloud, who attended Kennedy's funeral, and Reps. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-Ross; Walter L. White, R - Allen, Michael A. Sweeney, D-Cuyahoga, and Carl B. Stokes, D-Cuyahoga.

In the Senate, Sen. Tennyson Guver, Findlay Republican and noted orator, declared: "John Fitzgerald Kennedy was a symbol of this generation of new Americans tempered by war and disciplined by a cold and bitter peace. He bore the torch of a society of New Frontiersmen when the old order was changing fast."

Jackie's Guard Is Honored

Bravery Shown
In Dallas Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy standing by, Secret Service Agent Clinton J. Hill received a medal for "exceptional bravery" today for his efforts to protect her and the late President John F. Kennedy during the assassination attack in Dallas.

Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon, presenting the medal, said Hill had addeduster and a new page to the "grand tradition of courage and heroism" of the Secret Service, which is under the Treasury Department.

Dillon, in presenting the medal, said Hill was "doubly honored" by Mrs. Kennedy's presence.

Hill's wife, Gwen, and his two blond sons, Chris, 7, and Cory, 2, attended the ceremony.

In the Dallas motorcade, Hill was riding in the car behind the Kennedys'. When the shots killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally, Hill sprinted from his car and vaulted into the moving presidential limousine. He threw himself over the President and Mrs. Kennedy to protect them.

Rufus Youngblood, assigned to protect then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, was personally commended by the new sworn President Johnson for throwing himself over Johnson when the shots exploded.

The Secret Service has been asked by President Johnson to continue its protection of Mrs. Kennedy and her two children, Caroline and John. Hill is one of the agents being kept on the assignment.

Meanwhile, the House passed Monday and sent to the Senate a bill that would give her Secret Service protection for at least another year.

The measure would also authorize the payment of expenses for the late President's funeral and would give Mrs. Kennedy free mailing privileges for life.

Office and secretarial help would be provided for six months at $50,000.

Since the assassination, Mrs. Kennedy has received almost 300,000 letters and 90,000 telegrams. And "bags and bags" of mail is said still to be uncounted.

Young contended this was not the point.

Sutton, assistant managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, explained that the press club issued guest cards to members of the White House press corps for Thursday night Nov. 21 and "in view of the late arrival of the presidential party, the club stayed open after midnight."

Among those who entered was a group of four young men identified to him by a Fort Worth reporter as secret service men.

At 2 a.m., Sutton said, when only one of the original group was left another group of four to six entered. They were also identified by a reporter as Secret Service men.

He said at all times they were in a completely sober condition.

Civil Rights Bill To Be Brought Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker John W. McCormack said today an effort will be made to blast the civil rights bill out of the House Rules Committee. Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of that group says he has no plans to seek action this year.

McCormack said after he and other Democratic congressional leaders met with President Johnson in their weekly White House session that Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee will file next Monday a petition to take the bill to the House floor. This is known as a discharge petition, and would require 218 signatures.

McCormack declined to predict the outcome, but said he thinks there will be a strong manifestation of support in the first day or two.

He said it is his hope that the bill will reach the House floor early in January.

McCormack said the leadership would urge the Rules Committee to hold early hearings on civil rights bill, but that it does not appear hearings will be held in December.

He added that Johnson wants civil rights legislation passed at the earliest possible time.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., already was plugging the discharge petition, with leadership blessing.

Eulogies Heard for Slain Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers, as the first order of business in the reconvened session of the General Assembly Monday, expressed their sorrow over the death of and assured their united support of President Johnson.

The legislature was meeting to allocate money from a $250-million bond issue approved by voters last month.

The Senate adopted unanimously two resolutions. In one they pledged the unanimous support of all Ohioans for President Johnson. The other sent condolences to the slain president's widow, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

The resolutions, which had the bipartisan support of Republican Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem and Minority Leader Frank W. King, were sent to the House for concurrence.

The late president was eulogized by House Speaker Roger Cloud, who attended Kennedy's funeral, and Reps. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-Ross; Walter L. White, R-Allen; Michael A. Sweeney, D-Cuyahoga, and Carl B. Stokes, D-Cuyahoga.

In the Senate, Sen. Tennyson Guyer, Findlay Republican and noted orator, declared: "John Fitzgerald Kennedy was a symbol of this generation of new Americans tempered by war and disciplined by a cold and bitter peace. He bore the torch of a society of New Frontiersmen when the old order was changing fast."

Jackie's Guard Is Honored

Bravery Shown
In Dallas Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy standing by, Secret Service Agent Clinton J. Hill received a medal for "exceptional bravery" today for his efforts to protect her and the late President John F. Kennedy during the assassination attack in Dallas.

Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon, presenting the medal, said Hill had addeduster and a new page to the "great tradition of courage and heroism" of the Secret Service, which is under the Treasury Department.

Dillon, in presenting the medal, said Hill was "doubly honored" by Mrs. Kennedy's presence.

Hill's wife, Gwen, and his two blond sons, Chris, 7, and Cory, 2, attended the ceremony.

In the Dallas motorcade, Hill was riding in the car behind the Kennedys'. When the shots felled Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally, Hill sprinted from his car and vaulted into the moving presidential limousine. He threw himself over the President and Mrs. Kennedy to protect them.

Rufus Youngblood, assigned to protect then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, was personally commended by the new sworn President Johnson for throwing himself over Johnson when the shots exploded.

The Secret Service has been asked by President Johnson to continue its protection of Mrs. Kennedy and her two children, Caroline and John. Hill is one of the agents being kept on the assignment.

Meanwhile, the House passed Monday and sent to the Senate a bill that would give her Secret Service protection for at least another year.

The measure would also authorize the payment of expenses for the late President's funeral and would give Mrs. Kennedy free mailing privileges for life.

Office and secretarial help would be provided for six months at $50,000.

Since the assassination, Mrs. Kennedy has received almost 300,000 letters and 90,000 telegrams. And "bags and bags" of mail is said still to be uncounted.

All were quiet, he said, and "completely sober."

Sutton said his impression was they were "drunk-nurses" and that each had no more than a drink or two.

Young contended this was not the point.

"These men have regular periods of realization when they are not on important assignments," he said.

Sutton, assistant managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, explained that the press club issued guest cards to members of the White House press corps for Thursday night Nov. 21 and "in view of the late arrival of the presidential party, the club stayed open after midnight."

Among those who entered was a group of four young men identified to him by a Fort Worth reporter as secret service men.

At 2 a.m., Sutton said, when only one of the original group was left another group of four to six entered. They were also identified by a reporter as Secret Service men.

He said at all times they were in a completely sober condition.

Civil Rights Bill To Be Brought Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker John W. McCormack said today an effort will be made to blast the civil rights bill out of the House Rules Committee.

Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of that group says he has no plans to seek action this year.

McCormack said after he and other Democratic congressional leaders met with President Johnson in their weekly White House session that Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee will file next Monday a petition to take the bill to the House floor. This is known as a discharge petition, and would require 218 signatures.

McCormack declined to predict the outcome, but said he thinks there will be a strong manifestation of support in the first day or two.

He said it is his hope that the bill will reach the House floor early in January.

McCormack said the leadership would urge the Rules Committee to hold early hearings on civil rights bill, but that it does not appear hearings will be held in December.

He added that Johnson wants civil rights legislation passed at the earliest possible time.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., already was plugging the discharge petition, with leadership blessing.

has lately dealt with sex, and his new film "Marnie" will offer some variations on the ancient theme. His heroine is a sophisticated beauty who is a compulsive thief and so frigid that her husband must resort to near-rape on their honeymoon.

This is the role for which Grace Kelly was supposed to end her film retirement. Her second thoughts are perhaps understandable.

Subbing for Kelly is the new Hitchcock discovery, Tippi Hedren, apparently recovered from her bout with "The Birds." The confused but forceful husband is played by Sean Connery, the virile Scotsman who has scared a hit as James Bond in the Ian Fleming detective series.

"Marnie is symptomatic of the American female; she is basically frigid," Hitchcock remarked. "There is a vast amount of difference between appearance and actuality in the American woman. She is schooled from childhood by magazines and advertisements to make herself seem alluring and sexy."

"But alas, her inhibitions are too great. There is in this country a long tradition of puritanism. There is also a lack of sophistication."

"That is why there is so much divorce in America. When a wife suspects that her husband is having an affair, she immediately summons a lawyer. A European wife is more sophisticated. She says, 'Let him have his fling; he will come back to me.' And he generally does."

Common-Law
Wife Faces Trial

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—First degree murder charges have been filed against Mrs. Susan Creech, 21, accused in the Sept. 14 fatal shooting of her common-law husband, Robert Lee Grimes, 22.

The charges followed a 30-day observation period at Lima State Hospital where authorities declared the woman sane and able to stand trial.

Mrs. Creech waived trial by jury and requested the case be heard by a three-judge panel.

Leave Science to Men Of Science—Warning

NEW YORK (AP)—“Science is to serious a matter to be left to the scientist,” says David Sarnoff, board chairman of the Radio Corp. of America.

Speaking to a meeting of the American Friends of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Sarnoff said: “Technological progress will inevitably create new problems, and the scientist alone cannot be expected to provide all the solutions.”

She was held without bond.

The shooting occurred at a farm house the couple occupied 11 miles northwest of here.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Pudgy, provocative Alfred Hitchcock was filming a new movie this week, and it appeared there was still some shock left in the old master yet.

Once concerned with cloak-and-dagger doings, Hitchcock has lately dealt with sex, and his new film “Marnie” will offer some variations on the ancient theme. His heroine is a sophisticated beauty who is a compulsive thief and so frigid that her husband must resort to near-rape on their honeymoon.

This is the role for which Grace Kelly was supposed to end her film retirement. Her second thoughts are perhaps understandable.

Subbing for Kelly is the new Hitchcock discovery, Tippi Hedren, apparently recovered from her bout with “The Birds.” The confused but forceful husband is played by Sean Connery, the virile Scotsman who has scared

a hit as James Bond in the Ian Fleming detective series.

“Marnie is symptomatic of the American female; she is basically frigid,” Hitchcock remarked. “There is a vast amount of difference between appearance and actuality in the American woman. She is schooled from childhood by magazines and advertisements to make herself seem alluring and sexy.”

“But alas, her inhibitions are too great. There is in this country a long tradition of puritanism. There is also a lack of sophistication.”

“That is why there is so much divorce in America. When a

Common Market Obstacles

European Common Market ministers are considering a sweeping new plan for establishing a single, community-wide market for agricultural products.

If approved by member nations — West Germany, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg — the plan would telescope into less than a year a program of price harmonization that originally was expected to take until 1970.

The reason for the speedup is the Common Market commission's feeling that the community needs a real shot in the arm because of the apathy and discouragement that have followed

France's veto of British membership early this year.

But the plan faces big obstacles. Farm prices now vary greatly within the community. To harmonize them in one big step the Common Market must pay subsidies to farmers of several of the nations, notably West Germany and Italy.

What such a plan would do to U. S. exports of grain is unclear at this point U. S. trade officials are studying the plan carefully. Vice President Johnson said the other day the U. S. is going all out to expand agricultural trade with the Common Market. But, to fall back on a cub reporter cliché, he didn't elaborate.

Reciprocal Russians

Only the hopelessly naive might suppose the United States is less diligent than the Soviet Union in the practice of espionage.

The art is as old as recorded history and while agents may no longer slip abroad disguised as sacks of wheat or stuffed inside a Trojan horse, no extremity of deceptiveness can be excluded. Not even a college professor might be considered beyond suspicion.

But in the case of Yale's Prof. Fred Barghoorn, seized while on a cultural mission to the Soviet Union, all the odds point to his being an innocent victim of circumstance. His arrest — or the arrest of some other American — might have been predicted with almost absolute certainty after the seizure of three suspected Russian spies in New Jersey.

The Soviet practice of indiscriminate reciprocation would seem to be a crass and petty game were the consequences less severe. Injustices so freely visited upon the convenient and the innocent continue to demonstrate Soviet unconcern for human lives.

Jumping to Yule Conclusions

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to Christmas conclusions: Now that Santa Claus is on the horizon, the tidy people who mailed their Christmas cards last October have a problem.

The stores are so thronged with yuletide shoppers they are unable to buy their Easter egg dyes now.

If the young lady can't tell you from Adam all the rest of the year, but right now she gives you a dimpling smile everytime you come near, mark her off your list. She's just another selfish dame seeing how many male dopes she can get to spring with Christmas gifts—so she can brag about them to her girl friends.

Women and show business folks tinkle more coins into the cups of blind beggars than anybody.

The only Christmas carols

most people can sing are those they learned as children. Not one out of 10 men ever learns the words to a new carol after the age of 40.

No matter how many lads there were in a large family, Santa usually left them a total of only one sled—although each of the daughters got her own doll to cherish.

A man usually gets the most muffers for Christmas the month before he retires and moves to Florida.

A philosopher is a husband who realizes early in marriage that, no matter how much care he shows in selecting the family Yule tree, when he lugs it home in triumph his wife, after inspecting it critically, will observe, "It's nice—but it has a wrong side to it."

No husband in history has

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Next to the tax cut bill now before the Senate the most pressing matter before Washington authorities in the eyes of business are two budgets:

—The current one on large parts of which the Congress is still debating.

—The new one to start next July on which President Johnson and department heads are now laboring.

Both could see final economic mies from earlier estimates. But both could be affected, either for more or less spending, by the reaction, governmental and private, to President John F. Kennedy's death.

Many business firms and the economy in general—jobs, production schedules, sales, profits, personal income, the value of the dollar — will be affected whichever way the decision goes.

Johnson has pledged thrift and care in spending. The new budget now being hammered out for submission to Congress in January will show how much spending can be held down, or how much it will be expected to increase from built-in forces.

The current budget, for the fiscal year that started last July 1, is still in flux.

The Congress has cut some of the appropriations that had been asked by Kennedy. The House so far has trimmed an apparent $5.5 billion from presidential requests for $92 billion. But many of these cuts in authorization don't really curtail actual spending under past authorizations.

And some see a chance that Kennedy's death may encourage the Congress to restore some of his requests for such projects as foreign aid and space exploration.

The big question business is asking is what priorities Johnson will give to these and other projects.

Space projects affect many business firms and whole communities. Expansion or curtailment of spending in this field would be top news for them—new orders, job security or payroll expansion.

Defense spending in general and various forms of welfare programs will touch many corporations, many cities and regions.

In the over-all picture, the total of Washington spending—above or below $100 billion—will have a direct effect on the economy. The as yet unresolved questions: How much money will the government take out of the economy in taxes? How much will it pump into the economy in spending?

The size of the federal deficit will play a part in future inflationary pressures, in the size of interest rates, in the fight to cut the surplus of outflowing dollars over return flow in international payments.

The deficit in the current fiscal year is estimated at $9 billion.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The medical research and development division of the U. S. Army constantly seeks new methods for preserving the health and insuring the survival of the soldier in war and peace.

Many of the contributions, when found to be completely satisfactory, are turned over for civilian use with gratifying success.

Recently, a survival kit was specifically created to help the field soldiers who have been separated or isolated from his company. The civilian hiker, camper, mountain climber, hunter or fisherman can benefit by these packaged kits.

The containers are divided into two parts, each weighing less than one pound. The contents of the kit were carefully chosen after rigid computer studies were made to determine those items most vital to health, survival, and rescue.

The first container, called the "operation kit", contains a signal mirror, flexible saw, flare gun with two white flares, gauze, adhesive plaster, absorbent adhesive bandages, bouillon cubes.

It also includes a chemical for water purification, salt anti-diarrhea tablets, a solution to treat cuts, scratches and insect bites, antibiotic tablets, ointments, and other specially selected medical items.

"A back-up to the operational kit," the Army medical department states, "is the reserve component which is principally comprised of the same items as the first kit, but with additional features; fishing lines and hooks, sewing kit with magnetized needles to point north, tablets for malaria, headaches and even a fire starter.

The containers are sealed with waterproof tape and encased in nylon bags ready for attachment to a belt.

From the moment the newborn baby arrives, the starting gun is fired for the beginning of a gentle, but ever-present competition — especially if there's another new arrival in the block.

It's infant versus infant, both wearing white trunks, evenly matched for the first smile, the first tooth, and the first step.

When one baby begins his solid feeding, the other must follow suit quickly. For eating solid food has become the guideline to the moment when the infant comes into his own as a

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER ONE

Once upon a time, in the Kingdom of Poo, there lived three little children named Jeremy, Sissy and Miss Jo.

Jeremy was the most grown up. He was 6. Miss Jo was the baby. She was 4. And Sissy was 5 and inbetween.

One day, shortly before Christmas, the children were playing alone in their house on the Round Hill Road. Their father and mother were away. They were lamp makers and they had gone to a nearby kingdom to sell their wares. They left the children in Jeremy's charge for he was a responsible boy and nearly always knew the right thing to do.

After the parents had gone, Jeremy and the girls played games. They played hide and seek Sardines. Flinging statues. Simon says. And so on. They played all the games Jeremy could think of until finally he ran out of ideas.

Then Sissy said, "Now we'll play house. I'll be the mother and you be the father and Miss Jo can be the baby."

"I want to be the mother," said Miss Jo.

"You can't," exclaimed Sissy. "Then who would be the baby?"

"Jeremy can be the baby," Jeremy turned white. "I won't!" he declared. He was prepared to do almost anything to entertain his sisters but this was clearly something he could not do.

"But—" began Sissy.

"Never," said Jeremy firmly. "I'm going to be the mother," repeated Miss Jo calmly.

"No-me!" Sissy stamped her foot. Now both Sissy and Miss Jo burst into tears and poor Jeremy did not know what to do to restore peace in the family. His head whirled with the responsibility of it all.

At this point there was a knock at the front door. Happy to have a distraction Jeremy rushed to open the door.

There was a man standing there, tall and thin, his shoulders dragged down by two large suitcases he carried in his hands. He had soft gray eyes and bushy eyebrows and a sort of sad smiling mouth. He seemed very tired.

The suitcases he carried were filled with books. The cases were broken. The seams were splitting and books were popping out everywhere.

"Who are you?" asked Jeremy, holding his sisters behind his back.

"I am a bookseller," said the man. "Would your parents like to buy some books?"

"My parents are away," said Jeremy politely.

"Oh." The man turned wearily away. "Well, then, I'll be on my way."

"Are they story books?" asked Sissy from behind Jeremy's back.

The man turned back and nodded. "Wonderful stories," he said, his eyes shining. "Stories about everything in the world."

"I like stories," whispered Sissy. She poked her head under Jeremy's arm and stared longly at the cases filled with books.

"I wish I had a story," said Miss Jo. She dropped down and peered between Jeremy's knees.

The man smiled—a happy smile now. "Tell you what," he said. "Let me sit down and rest a bit and you shall have a story."

"But you see," said Jeremy, very businesslike, "we have no money. We can't buy a story."

"No need," said the man. "I am not only a book seller. I am a storyteller as well. And the story I tell you will be free."

The children shouted with pleasure. They pulled the Storyteller into the house and sat him down before the fire. They pushed his old broken suitcases to the side and sat down at his feet.

"Now, what shall the story be about?" asked the Storyteller. "Adventures?" cried Jeremy. "and sports. Evil goblins. Wicked spells and all that!"

"No, no," said Sissy, shaking her golden curls. "About a beautiful Queen and a handsome Prince. About good children. Parties. Travels in the sky and all that!"

Miss Jo waved her hand. "I want a story about Santa Claus," said she.

The Storyteller nodded solemnly at all he heard. He stretched out his legs and closed his eyes

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The medical research and development division of the U. S. Army constantly seeks new methods for preserving the health and insuring the survival of the soldier in war and peace.

Many of the contributions, when found to be completely satisfactory, are turned over for civilian use with gratifying success.

Recently, a survival kit was specifically created to help the field soldiers who have been separated or isolated from his company. The civilian hiker, camper, mountain climber, hunter or fisherman can benefit by these packaged kits.

The containers are divided into two parts, each weighing less than one pound. The contents of the kit were carefully chosen after rigid computer studies were made to determine those items most vital to health, survival, and rescue.

The first container, called the "operation kit", contains a signal mirror, flexible saw, flare gun with two white flares, gauze, adhesive plaster, absorbent adhesive bandages, bouillon cubes.

It also includes a chemical for water purification, salt anti-diarrhea tablets, a solution to treat cuts, scratches and insect bites, antibiotic tablets, ointments, and other specially selected medical items.

"A back-up to the operational kit," the Army medical department states, "is the reserve component which is principally comprised of the same items as the first kit, but with additional features; fishing lines and hooks, sewing kit with magnetized needles to point north, tablets for malaria, headaches and even a fire starter.

The containers are sealed with waterproof tape and encased in nylon bags ready for attachment to a belt.

From the moment the newborn baby arrives, the starting gun is fired for the beginning of a gentle, but ever-present competition — especially if there's another new arrival in the block.

It's infant versus infant, both wearing white trunks, evenly matched for the first smile, the first tooth, and the first step.

When one baby begins his solid feeding, the other must follow suit quickly. For eating solid food has become the guideline to the moment when the infant comes into his own as a

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER ONE

Once upon a time, in the Kingdom of Poo, there lived three little children named Jeremy, Sissy and Miss Jo.

Jeremy was the most grown up. He was 6. Miss Jo was the baby. She was 4. And Sissy was 5 and inbetween.

One day, shortly before Christmas, the children were playing alone in their house on the Round Hill Road. Their father and mother were away. They were lamp makers and they had gone to a nearby kingdom to sell their wares. They left the children in Jeremy's charge for he was a responsible boy and nearly always knew the right thing to do.

After the parents had gone, Jeremy and the girls played games. They played hide and seek. Sardines. Flipping statues. Simon says. And so on. They played all the games Jeremy could think of until finally he ran out of ideas.

Then Sissy said, "Now we'll play house. I'll be the mother and you be the father and Miss Jo can be the baby."

"I want to be the mother," said Miss Jo.

"You can't," exclaimed Sissy. "Then who would be the baby?"

"Jeremy can be the baby," Jeremy turned white. "I won't," he declared. He was prepared to do almost anything to entertain his sisters but this was clearly something he could not do.

"But—" began Sissy.

"Never," said Jeremy firmly. "I'm going to be the mother," repeated Miss Jo calmly.

"No—me!" Sissy stamped her foot. Now both Sissy and Miss Jo burst into tears and poor Jeremy did not know what to do to restore peace in the family. His head whirled with the responsibility of it all.

At this point there was a knock at the front door. Happy to have a distraction Jeremy rushed to open the door.

There was a man standing there, tall and thin, his shoulders dragged down by two large suitcases he carried in his hands. He had soft gray eyes and bushy eyebrows and a sort of sad smiling mouth. He seemed very tired.

The suitcases he carried were filled with books. The cases were broken. The seams were splitting and books were popping out everywhere.

"Who are you?" asked Jeremy, holding his sisters behind his back.

"I am a bookseller," said the man. "Would your parents like to buy some books?"

"My parents are away," said Jeremy politely.

"Oh," The man turned wearily away. "Well, then, I'll be on my way."

"Are they story books?" asked Sissy from behind Jeremy's back.

The man turned back and nodded. "Wonderful stories," he said, his eyes shining. "Stories about everything in the world."

"I like stories," whispered Sissy. She poked her head under Jeremy's arm and stared longly at the cases filled with books.

"I wish I had a story," said Miss Jo. She dropped down and peered between Jeremy's knees.

The man smiled—a happy smile now. "Tell you what," he said. "Let me sit down and rest a bit and you shall have a story."

"But you see," said Jeremy, very businesslike, "we have no money. We can't buy a story."

"No need," said the man. "I am not only a book seller. I am a storyteller as well. And the story I tell you will be free."

The children shouted with pleasure. They pulled the storyteller into the house and sat him down before the fire. They pushed his old broken suitcases to the side and sat down at his feet.

"Now, what shall the story be about?" asked the Storyteller.

"Adventures!" cried Jeremy. "And sports. Evil goblins. Wicked spells and all that!"

"No, no," said Sissy, shak-

"I am not only a bookseller. I am a storyteller as well."

ing her golden curls. "About a beautiful Queen and a handsome Prince. About good children. Parties. Travels in the sky and all that!"

Miss Jo waved her hand. "I want a story about Santa Claus," said she.

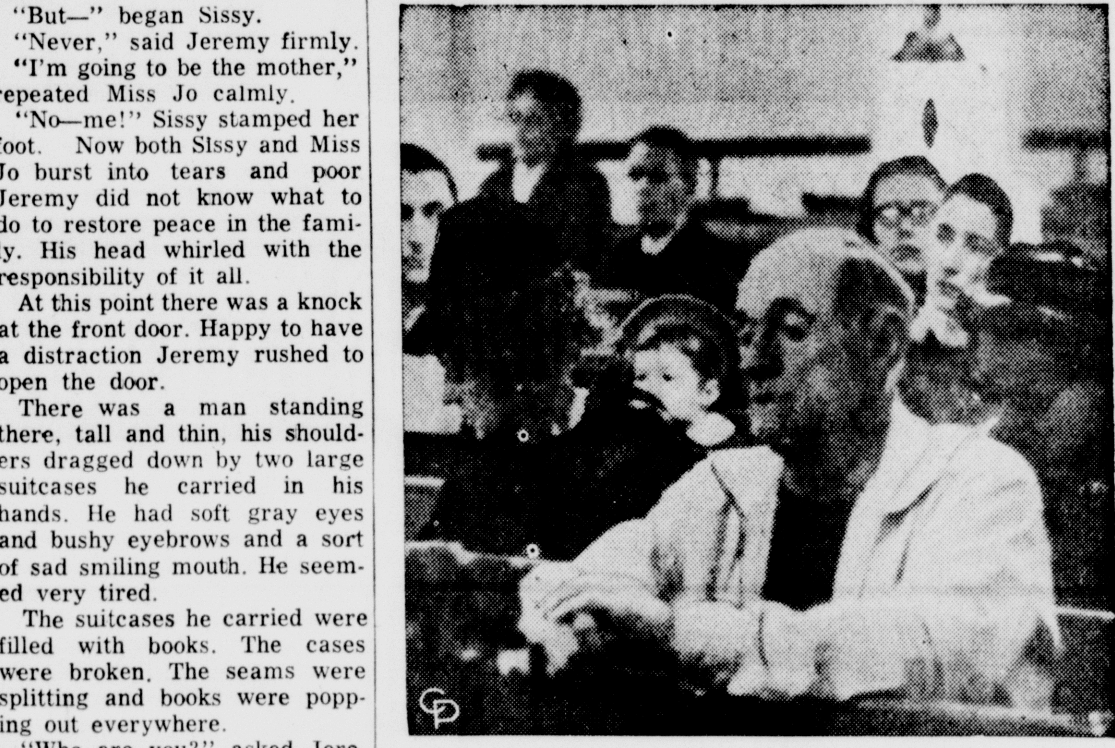

The Storyteller nodded solemnly at all he heard. He stretched out his legs and closed his eyes

"Very well," he murmured. "The story shall be about all these things."

"A true story!" interrupted Jeremy. Sissy and Miss Jo chimed in, "Yes, yes, a true story!"

The storyteller nodded. "Of course." He took a deep breath and the story began.

Business Eyes Next 3 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP)—Business—and all the producers and consumers whose affairs are tied directly or indirectly to it—has entered the final stretch of 1963 with more than the usual quota of question marks.

What happens in the next three or four weeks can remove or deepen—more than in most years—the uncertainties that cloud the future as the final month starts.

December is the month that traditionally makes or breaks the year for most merchants since it is usually their biggest sales period. And this, in turn, sets a pattern for their supplies all the way back to raw materials and countless jobs.

It is also a month of bonuses for workers and for stockholders and of the semitraditional year-end rally in the stock market. It is the period for the adjusting of accounts for tax purposes, for assessing the temper of the times, and the prospects for the months just ahead.

But today plans—private, corporate and political—are being reassessed. Predictions rushed out in advance already are being fogged with doubts.

Most businessmen venturing an opinion say that President Johnson's administration promises changes of manner more than of policies. They expect him to continue President John F. Kennedy's major programs. But the manner in which the new chief executive goes about it interests them most just now. It could determine both the chances of putting these plans into effect and their effects.

Some are counting on his past ability to command congressional support to get the tax cut most businessmen want faster than his predecessor could have. They also hope this talent may settle many other legislative uncertainties, domestic and international, in the coming weeks.

Many note that Johnson's congressional voting record signals that he will be a spending president—that is, undeterred by fiscal theories or priorities if he feels projects are needed, either for themselves or for aiding the economy should it stumble.

Some have commented that Johnson seemed less at home with economists than did his predecessor and perhaps more at ease with businessmen themselves. Since many industrial leaders tend to link economists with theorists, they breathe more easily in the more practical approach.

Consumer confidence will be tested this month in the stores, at the auto dealers, at the finance and mortgage offices. In the relatively few trading days remaining, traditional December shopping could recover lost ground. Retail trade in the first 10 months was running ahead of 1962, even if it faltered in the final tragic days of November.

Health Nurse Makes Report For November

Mrs. Helen Pickens, Pickaway County Public Health Nurse, submitted her November report of activities yesterday to the Board of Health.

The statistics report listed a total of 171 TB skin tests administered during the month. No new cases of tuberculosis were reported to the department during the period.

The health nurse made the following visits within the county area in November: maternity cases, 3; mental health, 2; crippled children, 3; tuberculosis, 11.

The report stated that an eye screening program was completed by mother's clubs at Saltcreek, Walnut and Jackson Twp., schools. The Child Study Club performed the service at Williamsport. A total of 1,280 tests were given.

OF THE total, 121 students were re-tested by the county health nurse and 78 were advised to see an eye doctor.

Hearing tests were also administered at Williamsport by the Child Study Club and at Saltcreek by a mothers' group. Only one student was referred to a doctor for more testing.

Eye glasses were obtained for several students through the courtesy of the Circleville Lions Club, the report stated.

Immunizations and vaccinations were also administered to many students by the county health department during November.

Mrs. Pickens, at the request of school heads, conducted discussions at various county schools with students on health problems and hygiene.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are two Presidents Johnson just as there were two Presidents Kennedy: the public president and the president at work inside the White House.

One is the talking president saying the nice and pleasant things that cheer the American heart even when dressed in generalities and sometimes decorated with the obvious.

The other is the doing president busy with problems and people in the privacy of his office or on the telephone. Sometimes the two presidents overlap and become one because the uses of the presidency have changed.

Before television a president who wanted to get himself and his ideas across to the nation had to depend on public appearances before limited audiences on radio. Most of the time he had to depend on deeds alone.

Kennedy, winning the presidency by a slim election margin, felt from the beginning the need to create in the public mind confidence in him and, if possible, affection. The grief at his death showed he filled both ambitions.

It's no wonder he was constantly before the camera. Nor is it any wonder Johnson lost no time going before the public in person on television in his talks to Congress, for example, and his talk on Thanksgiving Day. He had even greater need than Kennedy to reassure the public the presidency was in safe and competent hands. Kennedy was elected to it, Johnson had it thrust upon him.

Knowing that Kennedy had broad public confidence, Johnson from the beginning has wanted done as smoothly as he could.

He has been very shrewd at this.

Johnson told Congress he intended to fight for Kennedy's civil rights and tax-cut programs.

Southern opposition to civil rights has been so strong Johnson knows he can't get that program through this year. He can try in 1964. But he quickly called Negro leaders to conference in the White House.

Senate opposition to a tax cut, unless the White House reduced government spending, made a cut this year impossible. Johnson at once began talking economy. He talked about it publicly in the White House.

This is one example of where the public and private Johnson overlaps. There will, no doubt, be plenty more of it. He is making his private activities publicly known as he goes along.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

All Ohio had snow during the past 24 hours. The new snowfall averaged one inch, and part of this melted as it reached the ground.

The snow has been associated with a small low pressure area which was moving over the state this morning.

A similar low pressure area was located near Winnipeg, Canada, on the early morning weather map.

The Winnipeg low was expected to move rapidly to Ohio in the next 24 hours, resulting in another small accumulation of snow during the late night and morning hours Wednesday.

Temperatures were expected to rise just above the freezing mark over most of the state today and then settle back into the 20s or high teens during the night.

This morning temperatures ranged from 17 at Toledo to 31 at Marietta, Cleveland had 30, Cincinnati 28 and Columbus 24.

He had even greater need than Kennedy to reassure the public the presidency was in safe and competent hands. Kennedy was elected to it, Johnson had it thrust upon him.

Knowing that Kennedy had broad public confidence, Johnson from the beginning has sought to identify himself as one with Kennedy and his programs. He emphasizes continuity.

He even adopted some of Kennedy's homely touches, like using the same kind of rocking chair, or dropping in suddenly on friends at their home. There is a chance he may overdo this folksy routine.

In time, as he gets adjusted to the White House and can begin to gauge public reaction to his presidency, he should work out his own techniques in public relations, a field in which he now must have an additional concern.

He will almost certainly seek election next year.

But in his years in Congress Johnson's greatest abilities were not in public speaking or public appearances but in an endless, tireless effort behind the scenes to get done what he wanted done as smoothly as he could.

He has been very shrewd at this.

Dear Abby: Signals Are Crossed!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a girl who buys her own engagement ring? Her boy friend told her he couldn't afford to buy her a ring because he is paying off his car, so she went out and bought herself one and paid for it. She says lots of girls do it. Her boy friend said if it makes her happy, he doesn't see anything wrong with it. Am I old-fashioned or isn't this fellow a poor excuse for a man?

BYSTANDER: Apparently the girl is calling the signals. She should have bought

TWO rings—one for his nose.

DEAR ABBY: A friend I grew up with but haven't seen in years, called me long distance and said she was coming to this city to visit for a few days. I told her I'd be glad to see her, but I didn't have room enough in my apartment to have her stay with us. She said, "Oh, the floor will be good enough for me." I told her I wouldn't think of it, but she argued and argued and I couldn't talk her out of it. Now my husband is having a fit, and says he can't have a woman sleeping on the floor while he is sleeping on a bed. He says he'll go stay with friends and give HER his bed. Abby, I can't let him do that. I am so mad at myself for letting her win the argument. What should I do when she comes?

KICKING MYSELF: DEAR KICKING: Beg, borrow, or rent a mattress or sleeping bag and let her sleep on the floor. She's 90 per cent brass and won't feel a thing.

DEAR ABBY:—I am 13 years old and I guess I should know when I am sick and when I am not sick. My mother calls me a "little hypochondriac." Whenever I complain about a headache or a pain in the leg or the arm she says it's only growing pains and if I didn't pay so much attention to myself I wouldn't notice them. I want to see a doctor but every time I mention it my mother says, "Oh, it's nothing, you don't need a doctor." How can I convince my mother that I do?

NO HYPOCHONDRIAC: DEAR NO: If you really think you need to see a doctor, ask your teacher or school nurse to persuade your mother. Perhaps you have complained too much in the past about minor ailments to be taken seriously now. But don't ignore your pains.

Dr. Sayers Addresses Nurses Assn.

Mrs. Mary Ann Heimann, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Judy Goode, Mrs. Pat Wellman, Mrs. Harriet Byers, Mrs. Mary Walters, Mrs. Mary Denman and Mrs. Fern Schwartz volunteered to work at the Blood Bank.

Mrs. Wanda Matesky, Mrs. Ruth Bryant and Mrs. Sarah Baehr will work at the Well Child Clinic on Dec. 11.

Cans of chocolate candy are being sold by the group.

Names of the welfare children in foster homes were distributed to members and each will be responsible for buying a Christmas gift for one child.

Longworth-Taft Aide Is Wed in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mildred E. Reeves, Washington, D.C. lawyer and former secretary to two of Cincinnati's most illustrious sons, was married Monday.

She married Dennis H. Sherman of St. Petersburg, Fla., in a noon ceremony in the old Indiana Hill Armstrong Chapel. It is her first marriage.

Miss Reeves was executive secretary to the late Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House, and later to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Secret Service Agents Guard LBJ's Daughter

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Secret Service agents assigned to protect President Johnson's 19-year-old daughter at the University of Texas may find the duty more rewarding than expected.

A friend of Lynda Bird Johnson's quoted her as saying Monday in her dormitory room with reference to the agent who accompanied her to classes:

"He sits in the class and seems very interested. He's learning things too."

Lynda Bird is taking a 19-hour class load of English, Latin, history, government, chemistry and Bible.

A sophomore in the School of Arts and Sciences, Miss Johnson returned to classes Monday with more than 20,000 other students at the university.

She was taken from her dormitory by Secret Service agents Nov. 22 immediately after the President was shot in Dallas. Agents took her to the governor's mansion in Austin for protection. She attended the funeral services in Washington with her family and returned to Austin Sunday.

Lynda Bird's close friends—Merry Nell Van Fleet, 18, a freshman student from San Antonio—said the Johnsons' eldest daughter had not been appreciably changed by the swift turn of events.

"She's taking it all in stride," Miss Van Fleet said.

At least three Secret Service agents have been detailed to guard Miss Johnson. She lives with 800 other women students in a university-operated dormitory.

At least one agent is with her wherever she goes in public.

Inside the dormitory, the Secret Service has set up an office in a glass-walled room that commands a full view of the lobby and main entrance to the building. Extensive telephone circuits have been set up in the office.

Despite the tight security, student life goes on as usual at the dorm.

Agents said no interviews with Lynda Bird would be permitted.

Reports from close to the White House have said the President's daughter may transfer late in January at the end of the current semester to a school in Washington. They said such a move would greatly simplify the job of guarding her.

Another daughter, Lucy Baine, 16, attends a private high school in Washington.

Deers, Braves Tangle

Cage Action Set For Full Weekend

Pickaway County and area cage teams swing into a full schedule Friday night following a Thanksgiving layoff for some of the schools. Eight games are scheduled Friday and three Saturday.

The game commanding top interest in the county league finds Williamsport at the realm of defending champion Logan Elm.

The undefeated Deers will be out to extend their five-game winning streak. Coached by Glen Chester, veteran cage mentor at the Westfall District school, the Williamsport sharpshooters have been scoring points at a rate of nearly 100 per game.

Their torrid attack is paced by Rick Fenstermaker and Larry Beard. Fenstermaker, leading scorer in the county last year, has tallied 109 points so far this year. Beard, a transfer student from Teays Valley, has tallied 105 markers in five contests.

NICK WILLIAMS and Bruce Willis, with 72 and 70 points respectively, are both averaging in the double figure column.

Logan Elm, with only two games under their belts, has yet to get the football harg-over out of their system. Excessive fouling has played a crippling role in both their games to date. The two schools have played one common opponent—Kingston.

Williamsport won its opener against the Redskins with an 82-48 effort. The Braves were shaded 52-49 last Saturday by the Ross Countians.

The only other County League game finds Monroe at Jackson. Tom Seely, currently the county's leading scorer with 131 points in seven games, paces the Indians of Monroe.

The Wildcats of Jackson feature a fairly balanced scoring attack sparked by Dwight Whaley with 89 points, Bruce List with 82 and Ed Martindale with 74.

Jackson has played six games, winning five. Monroe after winning the first two starts, has been stopped five consecutive times by opponents.

DARBY is idle Friday night. The league race currently finds Williamsport on top with a record of two wins and no losses. Jackson's 1-0 record is good for second place, while Darby, 1-2, is in third.

Monroe has an 0-2 slate and Logan Elm has not yet played a loop contest.

Teays Valley, an inexperienced team with good potential, hosts Reynoldsburg Friday. The Vikings, coached by Russ Gregg, have won their lone start.

In the Scioto Valley Conference, action gets under way Friday with Laurelville, 1-2, playing at Piketon. The Plains of Mt. Sterling hosts Jonathan Alder in a Darby Valley League tilt Friday.

In Fairfield County, Amanda Clearcreek travels to Berne Union. Ross County play involving area schools finds Centralia looking for its second win from Huntington.

Centralia opened with a non-league bout with Huntington and won, 74-63. For the season the Bulldogs are 5-1. Bishop Flaget travels to Kingston (5-2).

On Saturday night, Teays Valley plays at Circleville, while Williamsport is at Centralia and Darby travels to Buckskin.

Texas Looks Like Cinch To Win Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas had a much easier time of it in The Associated Press poll than it had on the field against Texas A&M in its finale.

The Longhorns poked the winning touchdown across with little more than a minute to spare against the Aggies on Thanksgiving for a 15-13 decision.

The squeaker preserved a 10-0 season, and the No. 1 spot in the next to last Associated Press poll of the season. The final vote will be taken next week, with the national championship to the winner.

The Texas poll margin was convincing enough to make it unlikely that even a great performance by No. 2 Navy against Army on Saturday will dislodge the Longhorns. Navy has an 8-1 record.

Texas drew 42 first-place votes from the 51 sports writers and broadcasters on the special AP panel. Navy got eight and Pitt the other one.

On the usual 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, Texas had 485 points to Navy's 432.

CHS Matmen Open Season At Central

Tiger Grapplers Handicapped by Lack of Experience

The Circleville High School wrestling team opens its winter season Thursday, traveling to Columbus Central for a meet.

The Tiger grapplers will be fielding a relatively inexperienced team this year, according to coach Dave LaBounty.

LaBounty has only four returning lettermen. They are Howard Fletcher, a senior heavyweight, Tom McDonald, who will be going in the 133-pound class; Junior Tootle, a 127-pounder; and Charles Martin, a 120-pounder.

Although there is an increased interest in the mat sport, particularly in the freshman and sophomore classes, LaBounty pointed out a noticeable lack of candidates in the heavier classes.

THE TIGERS currently have no 165-pound grapplers. Duke Fyffe is a doubtful starter at 175 pounds and the only candidate in that class, and Fletcher is the only heavyweight. Joe List is the lone 154-pound grappler.

This lack of depth in the heavyweight classes will hurt the Tigers in meets this year, according to LaBounty.

Promising prospects for the team include Pedro Kuhn and Craig Benzenberg in the 103-pound class. Charles Hurley and Glenn Plum in the 112-pound class, Charles Whaley and Glenn Easterday in the 138-pound class and Fred Rickey and Jim Montgomery in the 145-pound class.

Here is the schedule for the year:

Dec. 5 4 p. m. at Columbus Central
Dec. 13 4:30 p. m. at Whitehall
Dec. 20 4 p. m. Grove City
Jan. 4 2:30 p. m. at Newark

Jan. 17 3:30 p. m. Columbus University

DeVoe Helps OSU Star In Defeat of Butler '5'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State, looking for more scoring punch, may have found a shooter to help All-America Gady Bradds.

Unheralded Don DeVoe came through with a clutch performance Monday night that brought the Buckeyes their second straight victory of the young season.

Lightly regarded Butler threw a mighty effort at the Bucks before bowing 74-68 in a real thriller. Bradds, who shared scoring honors with Butler's Jeff Blue with 31 points, calmly dropped in four straight free throws in the final 14 seconds to ice the decision.

But it was DeVoe who provided the heroics and who sparked a second half surge that kept the Buckeyes in front of their challengers from Indianapolis.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Port Williams fired in 26 points on 12 baskets in 15 attempts. Every time the Bulldogs got close, DeVoe went to work. He netted 18 points in the second half on eight straight baskets and two free throws.

The triumph marked the Bucks' 50th in a row on their home floor. Elsewhere around the state the Rockets of Toledo University rolled over the University of California at Davis, 76-47. Toledo built up a 22-point lead in the first half and coasted the rest of the way to an easy victory. The Rockets' Larry Jones Jim Cox and Ray Wolford contributed 21, 17 and 16 points, respectively.

Ohio University trounced Denison, 73-39, in another non-conference tilt. Four of the Bobcats' starters scored in double figures. Don Hilt and Jerry Jackson had 17 points each, while Mike Haley and Paul Storey scored 10 points apiece. Denison's leading scorer was Bob Johnson with nine points.

Kent State fell victim in Wisconsin, 88-77. But Kent State made it tough for the Badgers all the way. The Golden Flashes had a height advantage on Wisconsin and had the lead on five different occasions. The Badgers held a five-point margin with two minutes to go.

Defiance easily downed Concordia of Fort Wayne, 85-66. Youngstown clobbered Hillsdale (Mich.) 89-47, and Buffalo's unbeaten Bulls defeated Muskingum 80-67.

Texas had a much easier time of it in The Associated Press poll than it had on the field against Texas A&M in its finale. The Longhorns poked the winning touchdown across with little more than a minute to spare against the Aggies on Thanksgiving for a 15-13 decision.

The squeaker preserved a 10-0 season, and the No. 1 spot in the next to last Associated Press poll of the season. The final vote will be taken next week, with the national championship to the winner.

The Texas poll margin was convincing enough to make it unlikely that even a great performance by No. 2 Navy against Army on Saturday will dislodge the Longhorns. Navy has an 8-1 record.

Texas drew 42 first-place votes from the 51 sports writers and broadcasters on the special AP panel. Navy got eight and Pitt the other one.

On the usual 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, Texas had 485 points to Navy's 432.

The Top Ten, with season records and points:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Texas	10	0	0	485
Navy	8	1	0	432
Illinois	7	1	1	356
Pittsburgh	8	1	0	335
Auburn	9	1	0	226
Nebraska	9	1	0	217
Mississippi	7	0	2	168
Oklahoma	8	2	0	102
Alabama	7	2	0	72

CHS Matmen Open Season At Central

Tiger Grapplers Handicapped by Lack of Experience

The Circleville High School wrestling team opens its winter season Thursday, traveling to Columbus Central for a meet.

The Tiger grapplers will be fielding a relatively inexperienced team this year, according to coach Dave LaBounty.

LaBounty has only four returning lettermen. They are Howard Fletcher, a senior heavyweight, Tom McDonald, who will be going in the 133-pound class, Junior Tootle, a 127-pounder, and Charles Martin, a 120-pounder.

Although there is an increased interest in the mat sport, particularly in the freshman and sophomore classes, LaBounty pointed out a noticeable lack of candidates in the heavier classes.

THE TIGERS currently have no 165-pound grapplers. Duke Pyffe is a doubtful starter at 175 pounds and the only candidate in that class, and Fletcher is the only heavyweight. Joe List is the lone 154-pound grappler.

This lack of depth in the heavyweight classes will hurt the Tigers in meets this year, according to LaBounty.

Promising prospects for the team include Pedro Kuhn and Craig Benzenberg in the 103-pound class, Charles Hurley and Glenn Plum in the 112-pound class, Charles Whaley and Glenn Easterday in the 138-pound class and Fred Rickey and Jim Montgomery in the 145-pound class.

Here is the schedule for the year:

Dec. 5 4 p. m. at Columbus Central
Dec. 13 4:30 p. m. at Whitehall
Dec. 20 4 p. m. Grove City
Jan. 4 2:30 p. m. at Newark
Jan. 10 4:45 p. m. St. Francis
Jan. 17 3:30 p. m. Columbus University
Jan. 23 4 p. m. Columbus East
Jan. 25 Pleasant View Invitational
Feb. 1 Worthington Invitational

DeVoe Helps OSU Star In Defeat of Butler '5'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State, looking for more scoring punch, may have found a shooter to help All-America Gady Bradds.

Unheralded Don DeVoe came through with a clutch performance Monday night that brought the Buckeyes their second straight victory of the young season.

Lightly regarded Butler threw a mighty effort at the Bucks before bowing 74-68 in a real thriller. Bradds, who shared scoring honors with Butler's Jeff Blue with 31 points, calmly dropped in four straight free throws in the final 14 seconds to ice the decision.

But it was DeVoe who provided the heroics and who sparked a second half surge that kept the Buckeyes in front of their challengers from Indianapolis.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Port Williams fired in 26 points on 12 baskets in 15 attempts. Every time the Bulldogs got close, DeVoe went to work. He netted 18 points in the second half on eight straight baskets and two free throws.

The triumph marked the Bucks' 50th in a row on their home floor.

Elsewhere around the state, the Rockets of Toledo University rolled over the University of California at Davis, 76-47. Toledo built up a 22-point lead in the first half and coasted the rest of the way to an easy victory. The Rockets' Larry Jones Jim Cox and Ray Wolford contributed 21, 17 and 16 points, respectively.

Ohio University trounced Denison, 73-39, in another non-conference tilt. Four of the Bobcats' starters scored in double figures. Don Hilt and Jerry Jackson had 17 points each, while Mike Haley and Paul Storey scored 10 points apiece. Denison's leading scorer was Bob Johnson with nine points.

Kent State fell victim in Wisconsin, 88-77. But Kent State made it tough for the Badgers all the way. The Golden Flashes had a height advantage on Wisconsin and had the lead on five different occasions. The Badgers held a five-point margin with two minutes to go.

Defiance easily downed Concordia of Fort Wayne, 85-66. Youngstown clobbered Hillsdale (Mich.) 89-47, and Buffalo's unbeaten Bulls defeated Muskingum 80-67.

Teays Valley Independent Loop Opens

The Teays Valley Independent basketball league played its first round of games Sunday.

Victors were Gregory Trail-Court, Scioto Grain, the Ashville Merchants and Lancaster.

Tom Rathbun paced the Gregory quintet to a 70-65 win over Wards Market. He tallied 24 points while teammate Dan Hollenback notched 19.

High for the losers was Jerry Collins with 18, while Ray Reinhold scored 16.

DAVIDSON and Harbor, with 16 and 15 points respectively, sparked the Scioto Grain team to a 62-51 win over Marcy Car-rout. Kerns had 17 for the losers.

The Ashville Merchants, behind a 28-point production by Miller, had little difficulty posting a 68-35 win over Marcy Ebert's 14 points was high for the losers.

In the Lancaster-Bloomfield Merchants tilt, Fairchild scored 17 markers to lead the Fairfield County team to a 57-45 victory. Rose hit for 10 to lead the losers.

Grid Draft Goes Slowly

5 Clubs Conduct Moves by Phone

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Football League plodded through an all-day session Monday and deep into the morning hours Tuesday in its annual college draft.

Five clubs that remained home and conducted their business by phone or teletype messages to a representative on the floor, while the others sat on their hands. There were complaints and a threat of legislation to avoid such marathons in the future.

It took the league a record eight hours and eight minutes to work its way through the first round selections of the 14 clubs.

Several signings were announced almost simultaneously with the drafts, making it obvious that the clubs were checking the boys to be sure they were interested in playing NFL ball before wasting a turn. The teams were very much aware of the draft by the rival American Football League held Saturday in New York.

Dallas used up two hours and 39 minutes before settling on Scott Appleton, 235-pound tackle of Texas' top ranked Longhorns. Baltimore delayed about two hours before picking Marv Woodson, an Indiana halfback and then announced his signing later in the day.

Dave Parks, a 193-pound end from Texas Tech, was the first player drafted by the San Francisco 49ers who had first choice because they were last in the combined conference standings after Sunday's games.

Bob Brown, 269 pound guard from Nebraska's Orange Bowl-bound Cornhuskers, was taken by Philadelphia and Charley Taylor, a strong running back from Arizona State, was picked by Washington before the session ran into the Dallas long jam.

The Minnesota Vikings who lost their first three picks to the AFL last year quickly signed their No. 1 and No. 2 selections, tackle Carl Eller of Minnesota and end Hal Bedsole of Southern California.

Other early signers announced were Woodson by Baltimore, tackle Dick Evey of Tennessee by the Chicago Bears, tackle Herchel Turner of Kentucky by St. Louis and quarterback Munson by the Rams.

Loyola Romps In Defense Of Cage Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach George Ireland's Chicago Loyola Ramblers opened their season Monday night with a firm declaration that they're dead serious about repeating as national champions.

With four starters returning from the team that upset Cincinnati in the NCAA final and compiled a 29-2 record last season, the Ramblers romped over North Dakota 92-54 and, according to the game report "looked ragged throughout."

The Ramblers, ranked at the top of The Associated Press' pre-season poll, simply overwhelmed the visitors in the feature game on a heavy program.

The other ranked teams in action also came through on schedule with only a couple of upsets spoiling things for the form players. Probably the foremost among those was the 66-33 surprise Davidson popped on Wake Forest and State College of Iowa's 58-54 edge over Iowa State.

Otherwise, the favorites had things pretty much their own way. Fifth-ranked Wichita beat Colorado 71-61. No. 7 Ohio State pulled out a tough 74-68 decision over Butler. No. 8 Michigan romped 73-47 against Tulane. No. 9 Kentucky beat up its highest total in four years in a 107-91 crushing of Texas Tech and No. 10 Oregon State trounced Washington State 80-66 in a game that had been postponed from the weekend. Big seven-foot Mel Counts tossed in 38 points for the Bears.

Browns Draft Buck Halfback

CHICAGO (AP)—Paul Warfield, Ohio State offensive and defensive halfback, talked terms with the Cleveland Browns Monday night after the National Football League club made him its No. 1 draft choice.

The former Warren High School star was plucked by the Browns, who picked 11th in Monday's NFL draft.

"He headed our list of defensive backfield prospects," said Coach Blanton Collier.

Albie Pearson and Jim Fregosi both played in 154 games for the Los Angeles last season.

Lots of Talent Appears On All-Ohio Class A '11'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An impressive array of high school gridders, boasting speed, scoring punch and defensive prowess, make up The Associated Press' Class A All-Ohio high school football team.

Steve Budnick of Millersport and Larry Brown of Marion Catholic head the glittering 22-man squad, selected by coaches, sports writers, sportscasters and officials.

Budnick, a rugged 6-foot, 188-pound fullback, is the small school back of the year. Brown, a 5-11, 220-pound tackle, won accolades as the lineman of the year.

Dover St. Joseph, Marion Catholic, Baltimore Liberty Union and Tiltonsville Warren Consolidated dominated the selections as each school landed two players on the dream team.

Class A coach of the year honors went to Lawrence (Art) Teynor, a 38-year-old native of Bucyrus who guided Dover St. Joseph to a 9-0-1 mark.

Jim Hicks, Logan Elm senior, and Ron Ash, Laurelville senior, both were named to the honorable mention list on the All Ohio Class A football squad.

Both gridders played tackle for their respective schools. They were unanimous choices at that position on the All-Scioto Valley Conference team.

Teynor, a graduate of Wichita and a coach for 12 years, was overwhelmed by his selection. "It's an extreme honor and I am grateful to all who had a part in it," he said. "The year 1963 will always stand out in my lifetime."

Teynor, who has three children, posted a perfect 9-0 slate in 1961 and his five-year record at Dover stands at 30-16-3. Two of his players were named to the first offensive unit. They are Mike Fearon, a guard, and halfback Roger Lammers, a brilliant student who is president of his senior class.

Joe Yager of Frankfort, last year's back of the year missed several games because of injuries but garnered enough votes for honorable mention.

Best back Budnick tallied 192 points this season and registered 540 points during his four-year career.

Brown and Randy Donahue of Tiltonsville Warren Consolidated were repeaters from last year's squad. Donahue is a fine defensive tackle who was runnerup to Brown in lineman of the year balloting.

Rounding out the first team are quarterback Ed Wilson of Pataskala Watkins Memorial; halfback Steve Chaney of Marion Catholic; ends Bob Holmes of Tiltonsville and Dean Dematio of Midvale; tackles Tom McCray of Summit Station Licking Heights and George Sareyer of Baltimore Liberty Union; guard John Fish of Norwalk St. Paul, and center Gus Ross of West Alexandria.

Two standouts who made it on defense are Larry Eye of Atwater and John DeBrosse of Piqua Catholic.

Eye's school won only one game this year but one victory shattered a 30-game losing streak. Eye was brilliant all year at end, though, and in one game blocked two punts and three conversion tries.

DeBrosse, chosen as a safetyman, is a versatile performer who completed 40 touchdown passes in four years.

In the battle for coaching honors, Bob Irwin of Norwalk St. Paul finished second with Larry Lintner of Pataskala Watkins Memorial third. Others high in the voting were Joe Rich of Mineral Ridge and George Murphy of Millersport.

Bork Is Tops On Honor Team

NEW YORK (AP) — George Bork, Northern Illinois' fantastic passer, and 10 other seniors make up the Associated Press Little All-America football team for 1963.

Bork, the human howitzer who rewrote the record book with his tosses, is the only repeater from a year ago. The 1963 all-star aggregation is one of the few during the 30-year history of the Little All-America to be made up entirely of seniors.

Bracketed in the backfield with Bork are Mike Brown, wheel-horse of Delaware's unbeaten team; Sid Banks of Texas A&I, and Martin Luther Agnew, the 198-pound avalanche from Sewanee who soon will enter the ministry.

In front of them is the biggest and most agile line in the history of the Little All-America, restricted to teams whose competition is defined as minor or at the college level by the NCAA as contrasted with the university level where such headline hunters as Alabama, Texas, and Washington prowled.

It is the colleges' schedules that are minor, not their athletes.

The big line boasts two skyscraping ends in Bob Cherry of Wittenberg and Jerry Cole of Southwest Texas. They are supported by Paul Graham of Massachusetts and Neil Reuter of North Dakota, rated the best linemen in the North Central Conference, at tackles; Ralph Bauman of Puget Sound and Greg Van Orden of Appalachian at the guards with Dick Dean of Depauw at center. Dean is rated the best center in Indiana, despite such nearby major teams as Notre Dame, Indiana and Purdue.

The players on the forward wall average 6-1, weigh 208 pounds to the man and are just over 21 years of age. Cherry is the team's tallest at just a fraction over 6-4 and also the lightest at 187 pounds. Graham, whose Massachusetts team tied Harvard and beat all the remainder of its opponents, is the heaviest at 234 while Bauman is the shortest at 5-10.

The backfield also averages 6-1 and 21 years of age but displaces only 192 pounds on the average.

Bork completed his collegiate career holding records and responsible for two team marks. During northern Illinois' nine straight victories during the regular season he completed 244 of 374 aerial attempts for 32 touchdowns and 3,077 yards, an average of 341.9 yards a game. All are records.

During his career he threw 902 times and hit his target on 577 of those occasions. These also are records.

If the Little All-America could be put on the field, one of Bork's prime targets likely would be Cherry, who grabbed 45 pitches for 886 yards and 13 touchdowns at Wittenberg.

Brown averaged 6.3 yards each time he carried the ball for Delaware and finished the season with a spectacular 104.8 rushing yards a game average. Banks made the A-I attack click with his running and pass catching as a flanker while Agnew shepherded Sewanee through an unbeaten season by being the team's offensive leader for the third straight year.

Jolly Roger Sought By Both Leagues

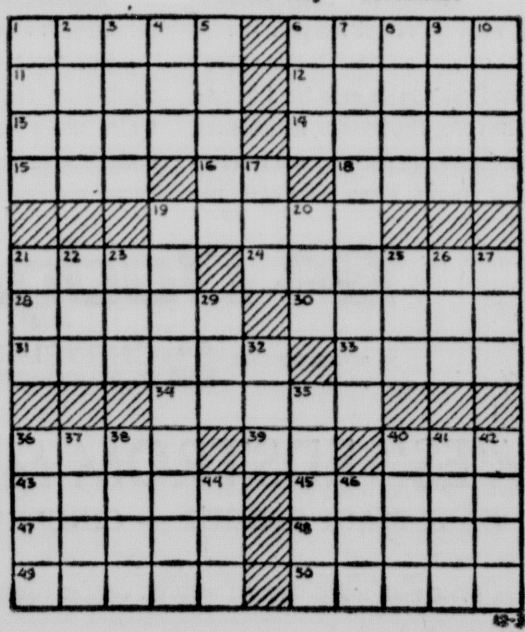

CHICAGO (AP)—Roger Staubach, Heisman Award winner, was drafted by both professional football leagues, although he still has a Navy Academy and least three years in service ahead of him.

Staubach was taken by the Dallas Cowboys in the 10th round of the National Football League draft today and by the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League in the 16th round Saturday.

Babe Dye, who played nine seasons in the National Hockey League, scored 202 goals in 253 games. He played with Toronto, Chicago and the defunct New York Americans.

Grid Draft Goes Slowly

5 Clubs Conduct Moves by Phone

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Football League plodded through an all-day session Monday and deep into the morning hours Tuesday in its annual college draft.

Five clubs that remained home and conducted their business by phone or teletype messages to a representative on the floor, while the others sat on their hands. There were complaints and a threat of legislation to avoid such marathons in the future.

It took the league a record eight hours and eight minutes to work its way through the first round selections of the 14 clubs.

Several signings were announced almost simultaneously with the drafts, making it obvious that the clubs were checking the boys to be sure they were interested in playing NFL ball before wasting a turn. The teams were very much aware of the draft by the rival American Football League held Saturday in New York.

Dallas used up two hours and 39 minutes before settling on Scott Appleton, 235-pound tackle of Texas' top ranked Longhorns. Baltimore delayed about two hours before picking Marv Woodson, an Indiana halfback and then announced his signing later in the day.

Dave Parks, a 193-pound end from Texas Tech, was the first player drafted by the San Francisco 49ers who had first choice because they were last in the combined conference standings after Sunday's games.

Bob Brown, 269-pound guard from Nebraska's Orange Bowl-bound Cornhuskers, was taken by Philadelphia and Charley Taylor, a strong running back from Arizona State, was picked by Washington before the session ran into the Dallas log jam.

The Minnesota Vikings who lost their first three picks to the AFL last year quickly signed their No. 1 and No. 2 selections, tackle Carl Eller of Minnesota and end Hal Bedsole of Southern California.

Other early signers announced were Woodson by Baltimore, tackle Dick Evey of Tennessee by the Chicago Bears, tackle Herchel Turner of Kentucky by St. Louis and quarterback Munson by the Rams.

Loyola Romps In Defense Of Cage Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coach George Ireland's Chicago Loyola Ramblers opened their season Monday night with a firm declaration that they're dead serious about repeating as national champions.

With four starters returning from the team that upset Cincinnati in the NCAA final and compiled a 29-2 record last season, the Ramblers romped over North Dakota 92-54 and, according to the game report "looked ragged throughout."

The Ramblers, ranked at the top of The Associated Press' pre-season poll, simply overwhelmed the visitors in the feature game on a heavy program.

The other ranked teams in action also came through on schedule with only a couple of upsets spoiling things for the form players. Probably the foremost among those was the 66-53 surprise Davidson popped on Wake Forest and State College of Iowa's 58-54 edge over Iowa State.

Otherwise, the favorites had things pretty much their own way. Fifth-ranked Wichita beat Colorado 71-61. No. 7 Ohio State pulled out a tough 74-68 decision over Butler. No. 8 Michigan romped 73-47 against Tulane. No. 9 Kentucky ran up its highest total in four years in a 107-91 crushing of Texas Tech and No. 10 Oregon State ripped Washington State 80-66 in a game that had been postponed from the weekend. Big seven-foot Mel Counts tossed in 38 points for the Bears.

Browns Draft Buck Halfback

CHICAGO (AP)—Paul Warfield, Ohio State offensive and defensive halfback, talked terms with the Cleveland Browns Monday night after the National Football League club made him its No. 1 draft choice.

The former Warren High School star was plucked by the Browns, who picked 11th in Monday's NFL draft.

"He headed our list of defensive backfield prospects," said Coach Blanton Collier.

Albie Pearson and Jim Fregosi both played in 154 games for the Los Angeles last season.

Lots of Talent Appears On All-Ohio Class A '11'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An impressive array of high school gridgers, boasting speed, scoring punch and defensive prowess, make up The Associated Press' Class A All-Ohio high school football team.

Steve Budnick of Millersport and Larry Brown of Marion Catholic head the glittering 22-man squad, selected by coaches, sports writers, sportscasters and officials.

Budnick, a rugged 6-foot, 188-pound fullback, is the small school back of the year. Brown, a 5-11, 220-pound tackle, won accolades as the lineman of the year.

Dover St. Joseph, Marion Catholic, Baltimore Liberty-Union and Tiltonville Warren Consolidated dominated the selections as each school landed two players on the dream team.

Class A coach of the year honors went to Lawrence (Art) Teynor, a 38-year-old native of Bucyrus who guided Dover St. Joseph to a 9-0-1 mark.

Jim Hicks, Logan Elm senior, and Ron Ash, Laurelville senior, both were named to the honorable mention list on the All Ohio Class A football squad.

Both gridgers played tackle for their respective schools. They were unanimous choices at that position on the All-Scioto Valley Conference team.

Teynor, a graduate of Wichita and a coach for 12 years, was overwhelmed by his selection.

"It's an extreme honor and I am grateful to all who had a part in it," he said. "The year 1963 will always stand out in my lifetime."

Teynor, who has three children, posted a perfect 9-0 slate in 1961 and his five-year record at Dover stands at 30-16-3.

Two of his players were named to the first offensive unit. They are Mike Fearon, a guard, and halfback Roger Lammers, a brilliant student who is president of his senior class.

Joe Yager of Frankfort, last year's back of the year missed several games because of injuries but garnered enough votes for honorable mention.

Best back Budnick tallied 192 points this season and registered 540 points during his four-year career.

Brown and Randy Donahue of Tiltonville Warren Consolidated were repeaters from last year's squad. Donahue is a fine defensive tackle who was runnerup to Brown in lineman of the year balloting.

Rounding out the first team are quarterback Ed Wilson of Pataskala Watkins Memorial; halfback Steve Chaney of Marion Catholic; ends Bob Holmes of Tiltonville and Dean Dematio of Midvale; tackles Tom McCray of Summit Station Licking Heights and George Sareyer of Baltimore Liberty-Union; guard John Fish of Norwalk St. Paul, and center Gus Ross of West Alexandria.

Two standouts who made it on defense are Larry Ewe of Atwater and John DeBrosse of Piqua Catholic.

Ewe's school won only one game this year but that one victory shattered a 30-game losing streak. Ewe was brilliant all year at end, though, and in one game blocked two punts and three conversion tries.

DeBrosse, chosen as a safetyman, is a versatile performer who completed 40 touchdown passes in four years.

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 3, the 337th day of 1963. There are 28 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1833, Oberlin Institute in Ohio was opened with an enrollment of 29 men and 15 women as students. It was the first fully coeducational college in the United States.

On this date: In 1557, the first covenant to organize the Presbyterian Church was signed in Edinburgh, Scotland.

One year ago—Algerian soldiers took up positions around government buildings in Algiers and police arrested many Moslem and European opponents of Premier Ben Bella's regime.

Harral Takes Top College Union Post

William M. Harral, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Harral, Route 1, has been elected president of Region VII of the International Association of College Unions.

The election was held during the Region VII Conference at Miami University. The region encompasses the area of Ohio, Michigan and part of Ontario and consists of more than 80 universities with a total student enrollment of approximately 850,000.

This office is the culmination of Harral's efforts in the area of student unions. It is the highest position a student may achieve in the International Association of College Unions.

Harral is also the vice-president of the Big 10 Association of College Unions, editor of the Big 10 Newsletter, member of the Executive Council of the Big 10, president of the Ohio Union Activities at Ohio State University, president of the Ohio Union Board of Directors and chairman of Ohio Union Council.

He also holds staff positions of student assistant in the Industrial Engineering Department and student counselor in the Stadium Scholarship Dormitory.

HARRAL has received academic acknowledgement of being in the upper quarter of his college and upper fifth of his major department.

The OSU student is presently in his fourth year of engineering study. He is studying with the aid of a scholarship presented by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation of New York City. This is his second year as a Sloan scholar.

Sloan scholars consist of 30 men of at least junior standing selected nationally, from the fields of pre-medicine, pre-law and engineering on the basis of college achievement both academically and extracurricularly and leadership potential.

Ravenna School Aide Confesses Thefts

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Pleading guilty to five counts of embezzlement, L. Joseph Purdy, former administrator of student activity funds at Ravenna High School, has asked for probation.

The plea in Common Pleas Court Monday followed last month's indictment in which Purdy, 37, was accused of illegally using more than $11,000 from the high school athletic, bookstore, newspaper, yearbook and general activity funds.

Views on Television—Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television networks and sponsors always like to see in advance the way a prospective new series shapes up.

A half-hour show usually costs about $50,000 to produce. Hence one of the most economical and effective ways of putting a pilot on view is to introduce the new characters in an episode of some established show. In industry slang this is called a "spin off."

Monday night's "Danny Thomas Show" on CBS was the show case for a quintet of Irish comedians and folksingers.

Thomas and his busy production company would like to build a series around them.

If the three Clancy brothers, Tommy Makem and Barbara Mullen make the grade, their series would never go plot hungry. The boys sing and play musical instruments. Miss Mullen is one of those witty, peppery ladies television writers are so fond of. Everyone has a rich brogue.

Also, according to a suggestion slipped into Monday night's show, the boys propose to become, respectively, a doctor, a lawyer, an advertising man and a policeman. With all those things going for them their series could run forever.

Unhappily, their pilot film was not up to the comedy standards of Thomas' weekly show.

ABC currently is pondering how to make better use of correspondents Howard K. Smith and Edward Morgan, both of whom turned in noteworthy jobs in the network's coverage of John F. Kennedy's death.

Smith has been seen only on a biweekly basis this season in a Sunday afternoon interview program. Morgan has a daily radio show.

Despite reports, however, ABC currently has no plans to team the commentators in Huntley-Brinkley fashion.

Recommended tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11—musical variety with Maurice Chevalier among the guest stars.

More Active Church Asked By Executive

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. called today for Church unity and a more active participation in the field of civil rights.

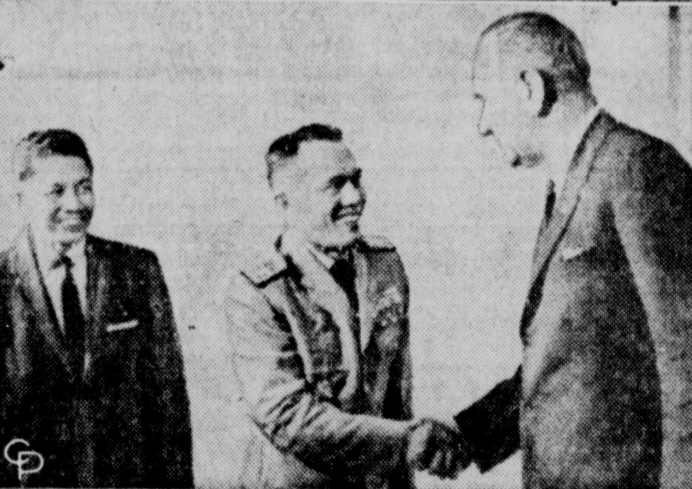

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake said he hoped the week-long triennial general assembly of the National Council of Churches "will be the occasion of our churches realizing more fully the importance of Church unity and cooperation in our kind of world."

In an interview preceding today's plenary business session, Dr. Blake, a past president of the council, added:

"The unity of the Church is more clearly visible than it has been for centuries and yet there seems to be a division and controversy increasing in some quarters which weakens desperately the clear witness of the Christian Church."

On civil rights, he said: "I expect the assembly to support the leadership taken last June by the general board and to urge all our churches to a more active participation in the effort to achieve liberty, equality and justice for all Americans."

The National Council of Churches is the cooperative agency of 31 Protestant, Anglican and Eastern Orthodox communions, with 40 million members.

chunk of legislative work to chew this week. His intimation was that, because of a large amount of controversial material, the session might last longer than the scheduled one week.

The Senate, in order to clear the decks for other legislative action, ground out nearly 80 confirmations of appointments to state posts by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Included were confirmations to such key state agencies as the new Youth Commission and the State Board of Regents. All confirmations were unanimous, but required more than four hours of Senate roll calls.

The proposal to ask the voters to approve still another bond issue was offered in the Senate by Sen. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Montgomery.

Whalen originally was billed for a $200-million bond effort, but Rhodes chose to plunge for $500 million in order to promote a big highway program far in advance of the kind normal financing would have provided.

Financing would be through the present axle-mile tax on big trucks and a continuation of a special penny-a-gallon tax on gasoline.

Included in the baker's dozen of measures submitted to the legislature was a proposal to assign about $150 million in liquor profits over a period of the next 10-20 years to technical institutes and research centers.

Relegated back among the routine proposals was one to appropriate about $120 million—$100 million from the $250 million bond issue plus nearly $20 million in highway and natural resources funds—to meet the needs of state universities, public schools and public recreation in the next year or so.

Hearings on that big money measure were scheduled to start today as the legislature sought to speed up its final adjournment.

Tax, Rights Bills Near Milestones

WASHINGTON (AP) Tax and civil rights legislation may reach important milestones this week which could move them toward showdown votes next month.

President Johnson called last week for congressional action on the late President Kennedy's unfinished legislative proposals.

Unless there is a change in plans, the Senate Finance Committee will end next Friday its long public hearings on the $11 billion tax cut bill passed by the House last Sept. 25. That would clear the way for the committee to start shaping up the bill for action in the Senate itself.

Leaders are hoping the tax bill, cornerstone of the administration's economic program, will be ready for a Senate vote shortly after the second session of the 88th Congress convenes next month.

They have the same target-month for a House vote on a broad civil rights bill approved last month by the House Judiciary Committee.

The bill is in difficulty in the House Rules Committee headed by Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va.

Bobby Kennedy Expected To Support LBJ Fully

WASHINGTON (AP) — What does the future hold for Robert Francis Kennedy, brother and No. 1 adviser to a president now dead at an assassin's hand?

The word today is that the 38-year-old attorney general — whom millions of television viewers saw constantly by the heroic widow's side — will be back soon from a brief rest in Florida, and that he is:

Relief Order Fraud Found In Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Summit County Welfare Department has broken up an alleged food relief fraud operation involving a department caseworker.

Clyde F. Falor, head of the department's Akron Poor Relief Division, said a cross-audit conducted by the department has cleared seven other caseworkers in the alleged scheme.

The audit was made after police arrested Richard Crooks, 23, of Akron Friday night in connection with the alleged falsifying of relief orders.

Crooks, a $400-a-month caseworker since Aug. 6, 1962, told police other caseworkers were doing the same thing.

Police quoted Crooks, a graduate of Wilberforce University as saying he counterfeited the orders because he was in debt. He said low pay was the motivating factor.

Police also arrested a former relief client, Lawrence L. Carter, 30, of Akron. He allegedly endorsed orders with names of former relief clients, then "pushed" the relief orders.

Police said Carter admitted selling a number of the relief orders at discounted prices to patrons in local food stores. He said he divided the money with crooks, Police said.

Social Hour Club Convenes

The Five Points Methodist Social Hour Club met Friday evening in the church basement with 21 members present. A covered dish dinner preceded the meeting.

Ready to support the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson as fully as Johnson supported John F. Kennedy.

Though he has spoken no public word on his plans he is expected to carry on.

He would not, of course, if Johnson wanted another man. But Johnson has asked all Cabinet members to stay. Anyway, those knowledgeable of the national scene would consider it unthinkable for Johnson to let Kennedy go.

For one thing, much of the Kennedy mantle has fallen on the oldest surviving brother. To many Negroes, for example, Robert Kennedy is a knightly crusader for their civil rights, though by the same token some Negro leaders have felt he did not push hard enough.

There has been talk—it is too early to tell whether it has substance—that Johnson might ask him to join the ticket next year as vice presidential nominee.

As for the long-term future, his friends and wife Ethel are convinced that at some time he will run for public office. For the Kennedys have been and are competitive men, public men intent on affairs of state.

How did Robert bear the blow of his brother's death? With the somber calm of a Stoic—a calm induced by a faith younger than stoicism, yet old.

On the fateful Nov. 22, he had finished a conference at the Justice Department — a session dealing ironically with how to combat crime. He invited the conferees, U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau of New York City and an assistant, Silvio Mallo, out for lunch at the many-windowed, rambling, white brick farmhouse in McLean, Va.

With Mrs. Kennedy they were seated on a veranda for the lunch, when a telephone rang. Robert went to answer it.

As he went, an electrician working on a nearly completed addition to the house strode toward the open veranda and called out softly that he had just heard on the radio that the President had been shot.

Robert evidently did not hear this. He went to the phone and received from FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover the word that the President had been struck down, probably fatally.

Then, in a short time came a call from Texas, telling of the President's death. Old friends and neighbors dropped in soon to say and do what they could.

First was John A. McCone, head of the CIA, which is not far away.

McCone and Robert went out in the yard, walking for 20 minutes, their heads bowed, talking occasionally.

Lyndon B. Johnson called from Texas, asking in choked tones for legal advice. Would it be all right for him to take the oath in Texas? It would.

Ethel drove away to take the school-age Kennedy children out of school. She wanted to tell them — Kathleen, Joe, Bobby, David and Courtney — before others did.

About 4:30 p.m. the attorney general went to the Pentagon for a 20-minute talk with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Then by helicopter to Andrews Air Force Base, where he bounded up a stairs and entered the plane bearing the casket, the widow, the new President, the new First Lady.

The world knows now how Robert was at the widow's side in the days that followed, how he walked and sat by her side constantly and helped with the funeral arrangements.

Robert F. Kennedy is no man to tell publicly now what his thoughts were, or what his words were, during the tragic days.

But he is known to have had this little conversation with an assistant who approached him: "How are you doing?" Kennedy asked.

"I've had better days," the saddened assistant said. "Don't be sad," Kennedy said.

The assistant said he is certain that these words came from Kennedy's deep well of religious conviction.

Views on Television—Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television networks and sponsors always like to see in advance the way a prospective new series shapes up.

A half-hour show usually costs about $50,000 to produce. Hence one of the most economical and effective ways of putting a pilot on view is to introduce the new characters in an episode of some established show. In industry slang this is called a "spin off."

Monday night's "Danny Thomas Show" on CBS was the show case for a quintet of Irish comedians and folksingers. Thomas and his busy production company would like to build a series around them.

If the three Clancy brothers, Tommy Makem and Barbara Mullen make the grade, their series would never go plot hungry. The boys sing and play musical instruments. Miss Mullen is one of those witty, peppery ladies television writers are so fond of. Everyone has a rich brogue.

Also, according to a suggestion slipped into Monday night's show, the boys propose to become, respectively, a doctor, a lawyer, an advertising man and a policeman. With all those things going for them their series could run forever.

Unhappily, their pilot film was not up to the comedy standards of Thomas' weekly show.

ABC currently is pondering how to make better use of correspondents Howard K. Smith and Edward Morgan, both of whom turned in noteworthy jobs in the network's coverage of John F. Kennedy's death.

Smith has been seen only on a biweekly basis this season in a Sunday afternoon interview program. Morgan has a daily radio show.

Despite reports, however, ABC currently has no plans to team the commentators in Huntley-Brinkley fashion.

Recommended tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11—musical variety with Maurice Chevalier among the guest stars.

More Active Church Asked By Executive

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. called today for Church unity and a more active participation in the field of civil rights.

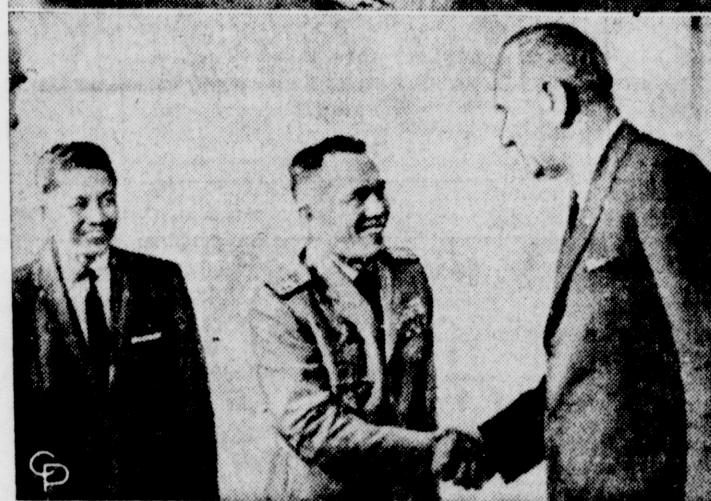

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake said he hoped the week-long triennial general assembly of the National Council of Churches "will be the occasion of our churches realizing more fully than they have before the vital importance of Church unity and cooperation in our kind of world."

In an interview preceding today's plenary business session, Dr. Blake, a past president of the council, added:

"The unity of the Church is more clearly visible than it has been for centuries and yet there seems to be a division and controversy increasing in some quarters which weakens desperately the clear witness of the Christian Church."

On civil rights, he said: "I expect the assembly to support the leadership taken last June by the general board and to urge all our churches to a more active participation in the effort to achieve liberty, equality and justice for all Americans."

The National Council of Churches is the cooperative agency of 31 Protestant, Anglican and Eastern Orthodox communions, with 40 million members.

Tax, Rights Bills Near Milestones

WASHINGTON (AP) Tax and civil rights legislation may reach important milestones this week which could move them toward showdown votes next month.

President Johnson called last week for congressional action on the late President Kennedy's unfinished legislative proposals.

Unless there is a change in plans, the Senate Finance Committee will end next Friday its long public hearings on the $11 billion tax cut bill passed by the House last Sept. 25. That would clear the way for the committee to start shaping up the bill for action in the Senate itself.

Leaders are hoping the tax bill, cornerstone of the administration's economic program, will be ready for a Senate vote shortly after the second session of the 88th Congress convenes next month.

They have the same target-month for a House vote on a broad civil rights bill approved last month by the House Judiciary Committee.

The bill is in difficulty in the House Rules Committee headed by Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va.

Ohio . . .

(Continued from Page One) chunk of legislative work to chew this week. His intimation was that, because of a large amount of controversial material, the session might last longer than the scheduled one week.

The Senate, in order to clear the decks for other legislative action, ground out nearly 80 confirmations of appointments to state posts by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Included were confirmations to such key state agencies as the new Youth Commission and the State Board of Regents. All confirmations were unanimous, but required more than four hours of Senate roll calls.

The proposal to ask the voters to approve still another bond issue was offered in the Senate by Sen. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Montgomery.

Whalen originally was billed for a $200-million bond effort, but Rhodes chose to plunge for $500 million in order to promote a big highway program far in advance of the kind normal financing would have provided.

Financing would be through the present axle-mile tax on big trucks and a continuation of a special penny-a-gallon tax on gasoline.

Included in the baker's dozen of measures submitted to the legislature was a proposal to assign about $150 million in liquor profits over a period of the next 10-20 years to technical institutes and research centers.

Relegated back among the routine proposals was one to appropriate about $120 million—$100 million from the $250 million bond issue plus nearly $20 million in highway and natural resources funds—to meet the needs of state universities, public schools and public recreation in the next year or so.

Hearings on that big money measure were scheduled to start today as the legislature sought to speed up its final adjournment.

Bobby Kennedy Expected To Support LBJ Fully

The word today is that the 38-year-old attorney general—whom millions of television viewers saw constantly by the heroic widow's side—will be back soon from a brief rest in Florida, and that he is:

Relief Order Fraud Found In Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Summit County Welfare Department has broken up an alleged food relief fraud operation involving a department caseworker.

Clyde F. Falor, head of the department's Akron Poor Relief Division, said a cross-audit conducted by the department has cleared seven other caseworkers in the alleged scheme.

The audit was made after police arrested Richard Crooks, 23, of Akron Friday night in connection with the alleged falsifying of relief orders.

Crooks, a $400-a-month caseworker since Aug. 6, 1962, told police other caseworkers were doing the same thing.

Police quoted Crooks, a graduate of Wilberforce University as saying he counterfeited the orders because he was in debt. He said low pay was the motivating factor.

Police also arrested a former relief client, Lawrence L. Carter, 30, of Akron. He allegedly endorsed orders with names of former relief clients, then "pushed" the relief orders.

Police said Carter admitted selling a number of the relief orders at discounted prices to patrons in local food stores. He said he divided the money with Crooks, Police said.
